U.S. COURT STRIKES DOWN TRUMP'S 10% GLOBAL TARIFFS

A US trade court dealt a fresh blow to President Donald Trump's tariff strategy on Friday, ruling that his new 10% global tariffs were unlawful. Trump had imposed the temporary 10% duty in February under a national emergency law, shortly after the Supreme Court struck down double-digit tariffs the president had levied in 2025 on most nations around the world. In a 2-1 ruling, the panel of judges at the US Court of International Trade found the "administration lacked the justification to enact the tariffs" | P15

Left backs Vijay but TVK still 2 seats short

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

TVK founder-president Vijay meets Tamil Nadu Governor Rajendra Arlekar on Friday, and submits letters of support from MLAs-elect | EXPRESS

FOUR days after the elections to the Tamil Nadu Assembly resulted in a fractured mandate, the fledgling TVK, with its 108 seats, on Friday was still two seats short of the 118 MLAs-elect required for the party to form a government and its chief C Joseph Vijay to occupy the chief minister's seat.

For the third day in a row, Vijay called on Governor Rajendra Arlekar to stake his claim as the leader of the single largest party in the new House. From its 108 seats in the Assembly, the TVK's strength will reduce to 107 once Vijay resigns from one of the two constituencies from which he was elected. The TVK's post-poll alliance with the Congress (five seats) takes the tally up to 112. On Friday, the CPI and CPM, with two MLAs-elect each, offered their support to the TVK from the outside, bringing TVK's strength up to 116, only two short of the magic figure. The bone of contention turned out to be the will-they, won't-they dance of two DMK allies, the VCK and IUML.

Lok Bhavan sources said during that Friday's meeting, Vijay said both parties, with two MLAs-elect each, promised to support the TVK and that their letters would come in due course. The governor was said to be waiting for the letters to arrive. However, the IUML, by evening, clarified that they remained with the DMK camp and would not be supporting the TVK. The VCK, which appeared to have all but sealed the deal with the TVK, did not send any letter of support by end of day. Senior VCK leaders visited DMK chief M K Stalin at his house late on Friday night but sources maintained that VCK would announce its outside support to TVK on Saturday.

In his 15-minute meeting with the governor, Vijay had showed his letters of support from the Left parties and explained that the VCK and IUML had promised support. He requested that the TVK be invited to form the next government. He was accompanied by senior TVK leaders N Anand, K A Sengottaiyan, and Aadhav Arjuna. Curiously, Venkat Narayanan, the producer of Vijay's film Jana Nayagan, also accompanied the TVK functionaries.

With the Lok Bhavan yet to respond to the TVK's latest effort, the party has put off the swearing-in ceremony that was tentatively planned for May 9 as the governor had given them time only till May 10.

At present, only the Congress has taken up the TVK's offer of a share of power in the state government and is likely to receive a ministerial berth in the cabinet. S Rajeshkumar, who was elected leader of the legislative party for the Congress, would likely take office as minister in a Vijay cabinet, Congress sources said.

Adding to the drama, a lawyer claiming to be a TVK member on Friday moved the Supreme Court seeking directions to the governor to invite the single largest political party to form the government. P9

Suvendu is the chosen one in WB

Union Home Minister Amit Shah with West Bengal CM-elect Suvendu Adhikari after his election as BJP Legislature Party chief on Friday in Kolkata | PTI

SENIOR BJP leader Suvendu Adhikari, the giant-slayer who defeated TMC chief Mamata Banerjee for two consecutive terms, was unanimously elected leader of the BJP legislature party and the next chief minister of West Bengal on Friday.

Adhikari and his council of ministers will be sworn in at a grand ceremony at the Brigade Parade Grounds on Saturday in the presence of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union home minister Amit Shah, top ministers and some 20 chief ministers of BJP-ruled states.

Shah, the BJP's central observer for the elections, made the announcement of Suvendu's election before the 207 newly elected MLAs at Biswa Bangla Convention Centre on Friday.

"Eight proposals were given but all of them elected Suvendu Adhikari as the leader. No second proposal came. Therefore, I announce Suvendu Adhikari as the chief minister of West Bengal," he said. "Suvendu has defeated Mamata-di at her home turf," Shah added.

Names of journalist Swapan Dasgupta and state BJP president Samik Bhattacharya had surfaced in the race, but Adhikari remained the front-runner after the BJP's landslide on May 4.

Hours after his election, Adhikari proceeded to Lok Bhavan with MLAs' letters of support staking his claim to form the government. Governor R N Ravi had dissolved the assembly on Thursday, clearing the path for the new administration.

Adhikari will be Bengal's ninth Chief Minister. The last time Bengal had a chief minister from its rural backyards and not from its capital in Kolkata was in 1971 when Ajoy Mukherjee, representing the Indian National Congress (Requisitionists), a breakaway faction led by Indira Gandhi after the Congress split in 1969, took charge for his third stint as the state's CM.

Adhikari quit Trinamool in 2020, joined the BJP, and defeated Mamata in Nandigram in 2021 and Bhabanipur in 2026.

Swearing-in ceremony expected on Monday

Sources said a consensus is likely after the high command meets K C Venugopal, V D Satheesan, and Ramesh Chennithala. The final decision would be taken after internal deliberations among Mallikarjun Kharge, Rahul Gandhi and Priyanka Gandhi Vadra. An announcement is likely within a day or two and the swearing-in ceremony is expected to be held on Monday

Kerala CM race shifts to Delhi

AMID a three-way leadership contest within the Congress over Kerala's next CM pick, the stakes are high for AICC general secretary (organisation) K C Venugopal, according to sources familiar with the developments. Veteran leader Ramesh Chennithala and Leader of Opposition in the outgoing assembly V D Satheesan are the other two contenders.

AICC-appointed observers Ajay Maken and Mukul Wasnik, who met the newly elected party MLAs, MPs, allies and senior leaders on Thursday, submitted their report to party chief Mallikarjun Kharge on Friday. A copy of the report was also sent to senior leader Rahul Gandhi.

Sources indicated that Kharge and Rahul are likely to hold one-to-one meetings with each of the CM contenders. "Since one of the contenders, Venugopal, is currently serving as the AICC general secretary, the final decision will largely rest with Rahul," high command sources said. The prospects of Venugopal emerging as the CM pick gained fresh momentum after a TNIE report, along with a photograph of the list of supporters in the possession of Wasnik, showed a considerable section of Congress MLAs endorsed him. Ashoka: Fallen trees still on roads, what's DKS doing?

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WITH uprooted trees and fallen branches during the recent rain yet to be cleared from city roads, Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka slammed DCM and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar for focusing on "political power fights'' rather than on issues faced by residents.

Ashoka posted on X that the Congress government was neglecting public safety and failed to clear hundreds of fallen trees and branches across Bengaluru even more than a week after heavy rain lashed the city on April 29. He pointed out that more than 500 trees had fallen during the rain and over 1,305 trees and branches were still lying unattended along roadsides, blocking footpaths. Ashoka said this is causing inconvenience and posing danger to pedestrians and motorists.

Ashoka said Shivakumar seems to be "more interested in political power fight'' rather than on clearing trees and branches from the city's roads. Noting that Shivakumar had stated that 30 teams were deployed for tree clearance operations, he said, "But on the ground, nothing is seen."

Ashoka questioned Shivakumar what happened to his 'Brand Bengaluru' campaign. "Is there lack of budget, political will or efficiency to address basic civic issues like this?" he said.

Mark the date: GBA polls likely June 14-24

SEC: Let GBA show us a hundred problems, mandatory to hold polls within these 10 days

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE much-delayed elections to the five city corporations in Bengaluru are likely in June 2026, as State Election Commissioner, Karnataka, GS Sangreshi on Friday stated that the elections should be held between June 14 and June 24.

Aam Aadmi Party members protest demanding the government hold GBA polls, at Freedom Park on Friday

He was speaking after meeting Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) Chief Commissioner M Maheshwar Rao and commissioners of five city corporations, who are also ex-officio members, to seek their opinion on holding the elections. He instructed them to prepare a list of assistant revenue officers (AROs) and Booth Level Officers (BLOs).

He said the State Election Commission invoked provisions of Section 10(4) (Greater Bengaluru Governance Act -2024) to convene the meeting and formalise election dates. "The only thing left to do is to fix the dates. All other work has been done. This is what the GBA chief commissioner informed us," said Sangreshi.

Though the GBA chief commissioner stated that they are ready to hold elections, he also raised issues of staff shortage because of census and other work. Earlier, the GBA had written to the Election Commission seeking an extension, citing survey, special intensive revision and monsoon preparation.

"The Supreme Court has ordered that the elections should be completed by June 30. The State Election Commission does not have the power to postpone the elections now. It is mandatory to complete the election within that deadline and file a compliance report before June 30," he said.

"Let GBA tell us a hundred problems, it is mandatory to hold elections within these ten days. I have told them they have to pick a date now. Whether they say yes or not, I will hold elections during this period," he asserted.

He said the commission has set GBA a seven-day deadline to decide the election dates.

Work on installing the remaining 15 of 762 spans between structural supports of the Ejipura flyover goes on in full swing on Friday | EXPRESS

EJIPURA FLYOVER SET FOR OCT-END OPENING?

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Ejipura flyover project, once plagued by "funding issues" and "contractor failures", has managed to crawl through for almost a year. Now, of the 762 spans (horizontal section between two adjacent structural supports, such as piers or abutments), 728 have been fixed and just 15 remain.

"Each span will take six to eight days to get fixed. By the end of October, the project will be completed and traffic will be allowed. The GBA had given a July deadline, but over 5,500 sqmt of land (private/government) acquisition was delayed and hit progress," said a senior engineer working at the site.

"With the portal beams now under construction and a majority of segments ready, Ejipura flyover is no longer a 'work in progress'. It is a project in its final countdown. If the land acquisition process had been completed in 2025, the flyover would have had moving traffic now," said the site engineer.

The engineers said after St John's Hospital agreed to allow their campus land to be utilised, work is being executed on a war footing. "The contractor has already completed the foundations. All piles and pile caps in the critical St John's stretch are complete. In the vertical progress section of the project, the piers (pillars) were constructed and staging for the portal beams is currently in full swing," they said.

"In all, 728 of 762 segments have been cast. Only 15 spans remain for final installation. Peripheral works involving piling (drilling earth, erecting steel or concrete pillars for a strong foundation), ramp construction and road widening are active," said Raghavendra Prasad, chief engineer for the project.

Azim Premji varsity suspends student 3 months after Kunan Poshpora protest

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THREE months after the Azim Premji University campus in Bengaluru was vandalised allegedly by the Akhil Bharatiya Vidyarthi Parishad (ABVP), the university administration has sent an email to a girl student, informing her that she has been suspended for two years. Protesting against this, over 40 students gathered on the campus and raised slogans.

The email listed these reasons for her suspension, including: Defiance of institutional processes and guidelines, misrepresenting facts, violating the university code of conduct and failure to follow university's instructions for de-escalating a volatile situation during an extraordinary event on campus.

A protesting student said, "We raised slogans against the administration, demanding that the unjust suspension be revoked. We later marched to the registrar's office. But he did not meet us and remained in his office, employing security guards to ensure students could not meet him. Members of the Student Affairs Committee met the students outside the office and kept insisting that students must first send emails and obtain prior permission before seeking audience with the registrar. Students were also threatened with disciplinary action for gathering outside the office, claiming that their presence constituted disruption of the workplace."

The students council stated that the decision was based on the recommendations of a Special Disciplinary Committee that was set up to inquire into the events of February 24, when ABVP activists forcefully entered the campus and vandalised the premises for organising a discussion on Kunan Poshpora incident on the campus.

"These claims made for the suspension are vague and undefined at best, and lack context or explanation for the decision. The university claims that the Special Disciplinary Committee arrived at this decision after their investigation. However, no report of this investigation has been sent to the suspended student. A two-year suspension subject to future 'review' before re-admission is equivalent to expulsion," it added.

"Other students who had been called by the Special Disciplinary Committee also received threatening emails, stating that they are being let off with a warning, and future non-compliance with the university's Code of Conduct would invite strict action," the statement read.

The students criticised the very constitution of the Special Disciplinary Committee as concerning. "The creation of a 'Disciplinary Committee' in response to an event where student safety was threatened assumes students to be responsible for an external attack. This assumption of guilt and need for 'disciplining' before any investigation was even conducted, is undemocratic and concerning," they said.

Students have also initiated a signature campaign in solidarity across the student body.

Mallika, Raspuri, Badami ... Customers spoilt for choice at Cubbon mango mela

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A 10-day mango and jackfruit mela began at Cubbon Park on Friday, bringing farmers and consumers together under one roof. The fair, organised in collaboration with the Department of Horticulture and the Karnataka State Mango and Marketing Corporation, will continue till May 17.

The mela features 50 mango stalls, 15 jackfruit stalls and 10 other stalls, where farmers are directly selling their produce to customers. Among the participants is N V Shivaraj (63), a farmer from Ramanagara who has been cultivating mangoes for 40 years and is attending the mela for the fifth time. He owns 10 acres of land and also grows canistel, avocado, cardamom and pepper, apart from running a poultry farm. At his stall, he is selling varieties such as Mallika, Raspuri, Badami, Sindoora and Totapuri.

Another farmer, Mahadevamma (40), has been cultivating mangoes on her three acres for the past 30 years and is participating in the mela for the second consecutive year. She is selling Sindoora, Raspuri, Badami, Mallika and Bygampalli varieties.

Manjunath (38), a third-generation jackfruit cultivator from Doddaballapur, is also part of the mela. He has 20 jackfruit trees, 100 mango trees and six acres under ragi cultivation. Participating for the seventh year, he is selling jackfruit varieties such as Chandra, Ekadashi, Shivaratri, Rudrakshi, Kaachahalli Red and Swarna.

Visitors said the mela offers an opportunity to buy fruits directly from farmers. A customer, Vinay, said he prefers buying at the mela as it assures freshness and reduces concerns about chemical use in fruits sold in regular markets. Another customer said while prices were similar to the market, buying directly from farmers was a satisfying experience.

HOLIDAY MATHIS

09th May : Lunar Perspectives Long ago social life was smaller. A medieval villager might interact with 20 people in a day and be related to a lot of them. But in the modern world, we move through hundreds of faces and messages in a single day. Under the socially conscious Aquarius moon, we'll be reminded that it's still the smallest circle that matters most.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You don't mind spending time in environments where you are slightly out of your depth. New classes, unfamiliar groups and the like will expand your range. Each successful navigation adds to your sense of what you can do.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20)
Today you'll be repairing something. Maybe you're not the one who broke it, but restoration still makes you feel powerful. You're someone who can intervene, improve and bring things back into working order, and it's just what the world needs.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 21)
Being occasionally kind to yourself helps. But just think of who you'd be if you heaped on the love. When self-acceptance is an integral part of who you are, you don't have to put any energy into being someone else.

CANCER (June 22 - July 22)
Relax. You already did all the work. Your effort has earned this moment of comfort. Let down your guard and trust processes that happen with or without you -- phenomena such as the tide, the wind and the way of the world.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
Different people notice different things about you. The people already in your life see a certain version of you that you're very familiar with. New people can reflect back parts of you that haven't been noticed, encouraged or even activated yet.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
Wanting to be respected in a relationship that feels mutual and even doesn't take anything away from the independence you've built. It doesn't make you less self-sufficient. It just means you're built for connection.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 23)
Organization supports confidence. When you know where things are and what needs to happen next, you act with more certainty. At its core, this is about your relationship with time and space. You decide what belongs where and when.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 21)
As dependable, fair and generous as you are in relationships, you're still aware of the perils of playing it too safe. You want to make memories, not yawns. Toss in a bit of wild energy to keep things exciting.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
Altering a single ingredient of a recipe can change the whole dish. Likewise, one individual can significantly alter group social dynamics. The invite list will make or break the party. You're on the lookout for people with something interesting to add.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
Emotional people tend to say things they don't mean or dig in deeper than they should. The socially skilled will go the opposite direction, stepping back, giving space and letting tempers settle before reengaging.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
When you discover you've made a mistake, you do something very different from what others do: You rejoice. Because life doesn't always show you what went wrong. When it does, you can apply the information to improve. Mistakes lead to mastery.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar 20)
It's why you keep your keys, wallet and glasses in the same place every time -- returning things to the same place builds reliability. You apply the concept to other areas of your life, and spend less time searching, more time progressing.

HC favours 2 transwomen, says can continue HRT

Abrupt discontinuation of treatment may have adverse effects

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court permitted the continuation of Hormone Replacement Therapy (HRT) for two transgender persons at a hospital in the city.

The treatment had been discontinued after the Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights) Act was notified by the central government on March 30, 2026. Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum passed the order after hearing two separate petitions filed by the transgender persons, challenging the validity of the amendment.

"The petitioners shall be permitted to continue their hormone replacement therapy as per the existing medical protocol. The concerned doctors and medical authorities shall facilitate the continuation of such treatment without interruption. The continuation of treatment shall, however, be subject to the outcome of the present writ petition and any orders that may be passed by the Supreme Court, including in any transfer proceedings initiated by the Union of India," the court said.

The petitioners contended that they are transgenders identifying as women. They are before the court aggrieved by the amended definition of Section 2(k) through which they were allegedly excluded from the ambit of the statutory definition, denying them HRT, which they were undergoing at a private hospital since November 2023, they contended.

They stated that despite being mid-way through treatment, the doctors are now unwilling to continue the therapy. Denial of treatment infringes their fundamental rights guaranteed under Articles 14, 15, 16, 19 and 21, they said.

The additional solicitor general submitted that no material was placed on record to demonstrate that the authorities have initiated or proposed coercive action restraining such treatment. The validity of the amendment is at present subjudice before the Supreme Court and the Centre is contemplating filing an application seeking transfer of all similar petitions pending before various high courts. This court may refrain from granting any interim relief, he argued.

The court noted that the medical records produced by the petitioners prima facie indicate that both petitioners have been undergoing HRT since November 11, 2023. It cannot be disputed that the abrupt discontinuation of such treatment may have adverse and detrimental consequences on their physical and mental well-being. Pending adjudication of the larger issues, limited interim protection is required to be extended to the petitioners to ensure that ongoing medical treatment is not disrupted, it noted.

Housekeeper held for stealing patient's gold

BENGALURU: A 36-year-old housekeeping staff member of a private hospital on Hennur-Bagalur Main Road was arrested by the Hennur police for allegedly stealing around 85 grams of gold ornaments worth Rs 9.60 lakh from a patient admitted for surgery. The accused, Vanjakshi, a resident of Hennur, committed the theft a day after joining work. The police said that the accused joined work on May 1, same day as the patient, Swapna, got admitted at the hospital. When Swapna was shifted to the operation theatre, the nursing staff instructed Vanjakshi to keep the patient's gold ornaments in a cupboard. When Swapna's husband, Srinivas, opened the cupboard after the surgery, he found that the 65-gram gold mangalsutra, 9-gram gold earrings, and 10-gram silver anklets were missing. He alerted the hospital staff and later filed a complaint with the police that the staff did not respond properly. After questioning the hospital staff and analysing the CCTV footage, found that the accused entered the room to clean the floor, stole the gold ornaments, and hid them in her pockets before absconding. She had pledged the gold ornaments in Tumakuru. Vanjakshi was later traced and she confessed to the crime ENS

Man dies during cataract surgery, son claims medical negligence

GAYATHRI M KURUP @ Bengaluru

A 55-year-old man who was admitted to an eye care hospital for a cataract surgery, lost his life during treatment, leading to allegations of medical negligence. Sajan, a security guard, suddenly died during preparations for the surgery on Thursday.

"We trusted the hospital, thinking it was a small surgery, but the next thing we heard is that he is dead. Moreover, he was not even at the designated hospital," claimed Raju, son of the deceased. He said the family was not even informed that he had been moved to a different hospital in Banaswadi.

Raju alleged that the hospital stopped responding to calls and messages, and closed three hours before its designated timing on Thursday.

Raju said the hospital had quoted Rs 26,000 for the operation, for which the family had initially denied consent. However, hospital officials insisted on proceeding with the surgery. "We had not bought the medicines the hospital had sought for my father. I don't know how they could start the surgery without those medicines," he added.

A hospital official responded to the claims, saying the deceased had a "nephrology-related problem" which led to breathing difficulties during the procedure. He said Sajan was only given eye drops to numb his eyes, and he suddenly started experiencing breathing difficulties. The hospital staff quickly shifted him to a nearby multi-speciality hospital, but he died on the way, said Nagendra, marketing manager of the hospital. He said the multi-speciality hospital later confirmed that the deceased had suffered a cardiac arrest.

The hospital authorities were silent on why they closed the hospital three hours prior to the normal timing, claiming they did not know about it.

Raju, however, contradicted the hospital's claims, saying his father was completely healthy and had no other health issues. Banaswadi police registered an unnatural death report in connection with the case.

Cabinet expansion likely by May-end, says Saleem

Says he's hoping new faces could get a chance to become ministers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hubballi, Belagavi

STATING that expansion of the Karnataka cabinet is likely to take place by the end of this month, Congress leader Saleem Ahmed said that the party high command has been requested to give a chance to the new faces in the cabinet. "We are confident that the cabinet expansion is likely to happen soon, and a request has been made in this regard with the leadership. However, the final decision will be taken by the party high command. We are also hoping the new faces could get a chance in the cabinet," Saleem, who is also government chief whip, told reporters in Hubballi on Friday.

The date could be finalised once Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister D K Shivakumar meet the central leaders, he added.

On the party's performance in the recent bypolls to Davanagere South and Bagalkot, the Congress leader said that the party was concerned about the reduced margin in Davanagere South. Taking action, the party has suspended MLC Abdul Jabbar, and Chief Minister Siddaramaiah has confirmed holding a probe over the reduced margin, he added.

He, however, said, supporting the five guarantees implemented by the government, people in both the constituencies have voted for Congress. The successful implementation of these guarantees would help the party to come back to power in the state in 2028, he claimed.

Meanwhile, Saleem lashed out at the BJP and officials of the Election Commission over the outcome of the recounting of the postal ballots of the Sringeri assembly segment, and charged that it was a conspiracy hatched by the BJP. They have declared the defeat of the candidate who had won and declared the victory of the one who was defeated, he said.

Top brass' decision final, says Satish Jarkiholi

On recent remarks by CM Siddaramaiah that he would continue in office for the full five-year term if directed by the Congress high command, Public Works Minister Satish Jarkiholi backed the statement and attempted to put speculation over leadership change to rest. "Siddaramaiah has been chosen as CM for five years. There is no need for repeated discussions on this issue," he said, adding that the Congress leadership in the state would abide by any decision taken by the party high command.

"The high command's decision is final, and all of us are committed to following it," Satish asserted, signalling the party's attempt to maintain unity amid continuing political discussions over the state leadership.

BSY Abhimanotsava in Chitradurga today, BJP biggies, seers to attend

G SUBHASH CHANDRA @ Chitradurga

THE stage is set for 'BSY Abhimanotsava', a programme commemorating former chief minister BS Yediyurappa's 50-year political journey—from president of Shikaripura Town Municipal Council to four-time chief minister.

With the new West Bengal government led by Suvendu Adhikari taking oath on Saturday morning, and Union Home Minister Amit Shah taking part in the oath-taking ceremony, the BSY Abhimanotsava programme which was to be held at 11am, was deferred to 2pm. Shah will fly from Kolkata to Shivamogga on a special flight, and from there to Chitradurga in a chopper at 4pm. He will address the gathering around 4.10pm, by which time all other leaders, except Yediyurappa, will complete their speeches.

Though the programme will recall Yediyurappa's political life, the main aim is to give party workers a shot in the arm to work towards bringing the BJP to power in 2028. The party, which has been on the backfoot since its debacle in 2023, is making all efforts to rejuvenate its ranks. Saturday's programme will act as a catalyst for BJP workers, a senior leader said on condition of anonymity.

Union ministers Pralhad Joshi, V Somanna, Shobha Karandlaje, HD Kumaraswamy, Opposition leader in the Assembly R Ashoka, Opposition leader in the Council Chaluvadi Narayanaswamy, former CMs DV Sadananda Gowda, Jagadish Shettar, Basavaraj Bommai and others will attend.

State BJP president BY Vijayendra is leaving no stone unturned in making the programme a grand success. He told TNIE that it is a non-political event commemorating his father BS Yediyurappa's political journey.

Three huge tents have been set up at the venue, behind Madara Channaiah Swamy Mutt, with mist fans to keep the participants cool.

Seers to participate

Prominent seers like Panchapeeta swamijis, seers from Sutur Mutt, Siddaganga Mutt, Fakeera Dingaleshwara swamy, Gurusidda Raja Yogeendra Swamy of Moorusavira Mutt, Kadasiddeshwara Swamy of Kanneri Mutt, Basavalinga Pattadadevaru of Bhalki, Dr Shivamurthy Shivacharya Swamy of Taralabalu mutt, Nirmalanandanatha Swamy of Adi Chunchanagiri Mutt, Vishwaprasanna Swamy of Pejavara Mutt, Udupi, Agamakeerthi Bhattaraka Swamy of Shravanabelagola, Madara Channaiah Swamy, Prasannanandapuri Swamy of Valmiki Gurupeet, Dr Panditharadhya Swamy of Sanehalli and hundreds of seers from various mutts will take part, Chitradurga MP Govind M Karjol said.

Collage and shawls

- Union Minister Amit Shah and Yediyurappa will be felicitated with a portrait of collage art, designed by Iranna Badiger from Sindagi in Vijayapura district
- Dignitaries attending the programme will be felicitated with traditional Molakalmuru silk shawls. SC Morcha general secretary Umesh Karjol said they have got 1,000 vibrant coloured shawls for the guests. The pure silk shawls with unique designs have been crafted by skilled weavers from Molakalmuru

BSY CELEBRATIONS A POLITICAL GIMMICK: SATISH

BELAGAVI: Public Works Minister Satish Jarkiholi on Thursday launched an attack over the proposed Abhimanotsava celebrations being organised to mark the 50-year political journey of former Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa, terming the event a "political gimmick" by a section of BJP. Satish said it was ironic that leaders who had sidelined Yediyurappa within the BJP were now organising grand celebrations in his honour. "Those who cornered Yediyurappa in the BJP and removed him as CM, are today conducting programmes in his name. This is nothing but political irony," Satish remarked. He further alleged that the event was aimed more at electoral optics than genuine respect for the veteran BJP leader's contribution to Karnataka politics. "The very people who were responsible for his political humiliation are now projecting themselves as his admirers. It is merely an election gimmick," the minister said.

SIR is undemocratic, unscientific: Civil society

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A delegation of anti-Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls led by economist Parakala Prabhakar and former minister BT Lalita Naik held discussions with Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, ministers Priyank Kharge, Santosh Lad, MLA B R Patil and others, on Friday.

They demanded that the government stop the exercise in Karnataka terming it as an undemocratic and unscientific process that pushes out voters.

The discussion was held at CM's home office 'Krishna' and was also attended by retired IAS officer SG Devasahayam, and other prominent personalities such as Nikhil Dey, Mano Thangaraj, Thomas Franco of the voting rights movement, Tara Rao of Eddelu Karnataka, Noor Sridhar, activists N Venkatesh, Yusuf Kanni, Arun Louis, Badagalpura Nagendra, Vinay Srinivas, K V Bhat, K L Ashok, B Amjad, Mahantesh, Tahir Hussain, Sriram, Abdul Majeed, Amjad Pasha, Ambanna Aarolikar, and Manjunath.

"The Election Commission of India has lost all its credibility due to the way it introduced SIR since June 2025 and the way it has been implemented. It has completely failed to perform its duties as per Article 324 of the Constitution," the delegation alleged. They also accused ECI of being a politically biased institution.

The activists explained that it has failed to protect the constitutional rights of the voters and citizens. The SIR process cannot continue in this form and it should be stopped immediately, they said. "The process undertaken so far should be thoroughly reviewed. The ongoing hearing in the Supreme Court on the constitutional validity of the SIR should be completed first," they urged.

They have appealed that Karnataka should not only effectively record its resistance but also set a new model for the country.

Alcohol in beverage tax policy to be enforced from May 11: Govt

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

ALCOHOL in Beverage (AIB) is the new Excise Policy in Karnataka. It replaces the over six-decade-old taxation policy on bulk litre of alcohol. The State Government on Friday issued the final notification on the new tax policy announcing the Karnataka Excise (Excise Duties and Fees) (2nd Amendment) Rules, 2026. The same shall come into force with effect from May 11.

The government had issued a draft notification on the proposed amendment on April 18 calling for objections and suggestions, which have been "considered".

Karnataka is the first state in India to bring in AIB taxation policy.

AIB means the "alcohol content/volume per litre of liquor such as brandy, whisky, gin, rum, beer, wine, fruit wine, fortified wine," read the notification. The government has slashed the excise slabs under which alcohol in Karnataka is sold (as per the maximum retail price), from 16 to eight now. The first five slabs (priced between lowest and competitive MRP) contribute around 75% to the Excise revenue and it is these slabs which will be most affected by the new tax policy. The MRP on the most sold 180 ml (nip) tetra packs of Indian Made Liquor (IML) whiskey, rum, brandy, gin, vodka will go up by at least 20%, said industry sources.

The manufacturers of low cost IML have expressed concern that the proposed system may "disproportionately benefit multinational premium brands while placing domestic distilleries and regional manufacturers at a competitive disadvantage, potentially affecting local investments and employment," said placed sources.

"Premium liquor brands will see a price decline between 16% and 20%, while mass-market products (IML) may become costlier by 20-25%," added sources.

Meanwhile, the International Spirits & Wines Association of India (ISWAI) has welcomed the AIB tax policy in Karnataka. It is a "forward-looking step towards modernising and simplifying the excise framework. The shift to a more rational tax structure is progressive and will bring pricing in line with other states, which in turn will support the growth of premium segments that are key drivers of revenue," said Chief Executive Officer, ISWAI, Sanjit Padhi.

He added that the reforms "align with ISWAI's principle of 'drink better, not more.' As consumers opt for higher-quality products, premiumisation reinforces a culture of quality over quantity and moderation," he added.

I don't oppose drinking alcohol, but it shouldn't become addiction: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Friday said while he doesn't oppose drinking alcohol, he stressed that it should not become an addiction.

He was speaking after inaugurating the Sahakara Samruddhi Soudha, the new administrative office of the Registrar Of Cooperative Societies on Ali Asker Road in Bengaluru.

While explaining the importance of co-operative societies and how they have become an integral part of rural economy by streamlining milk procurement, the CM said once there was a discussion in the Parliament that milk from villages are coming to cities and towns, and whiskey and brandy from cities like alcohol are reaching the rural areas.

"Today, most people drink alcohol, even Gods consumed alcohol. Even many of my cabinet colleagues drink," he said, recalling how former minister RL Jalappa made fun of non-drinkers by asking them "Why were you born?"

Continuing, the CM said there is nothing wrong in drinking but it should never become an addiction. Siddaramaiah said that the construction of the new building started in 2023 and the four-storey building is now ready at a cost of Rs 19.43 crore.

Stating that no sector can remain outside the cooperative sector, the CM said that 60% of people live in rural areas and cooperative societies should work for the betterment of farmers.

Noting that the farmers' economic conditions had improved due to milk cooperative societies, Siddaramaiah said the state was producing 1 crore litres of milk daily. He, however, said that milk production should improve in north Karnataka.

Deputy CM DK Shivakumar said cooperative societies are institutions for creating new leaders and young leaders.

Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil, MLA Rizwan Arshad, MLC Bilkis Banu, Registrar of Cooperative Societies Kantaraju, and others were present.

Politics was not transactional & commercial: Vishwanath

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BJP MLC Adagur Vishwanath painted a dour picture of how money has devoured the soul of Indian democracy and lamented the death of self-respect and simplicity that once defined politics.

Speaking to The New Indian Express ahead of his 79th birthday on Sunday, the former minister recalled his maiden victory in 1978 with deep emotion. "The then CM Devaraj Urs gave us Rs 20,000 each. My father added Rs 10,000. I spent another Rs 10,000-15,000. With just Rs 45,000, I won my first election as MLA. Today, it feels like a dream," he said, his voice filled with a mix of pride and sorrow.

Vishwanath, who walked the dusty streets of Karnataka's 'Rice Bowl' — KR Nagar seeking votes, remembered how ordinary citizens treated leaders with genuine respect and affection. "People would invite me into their homes and offer Rs 10 placed respectfully on a beetle leaf, and place their hand on my head and bless me. That warmth, that swabhiman - it is missing today," he recalled.

The contrast he drew was stark and heartbreaking. "Even those working in plush offices, earning up to Rs 2 lakh per month, now ask 'Where is our money?' and sadly, they collect it too. The old self-respect has vanished," he lamented.

What was once a people's movement has transformed into a costly transaction, and contesting for an MLA seat today demands a staggering Rs 50 crore, he said.

That is the reason why so many MLAs in all three parties are real estate barons, he said.

The leader, author of many books including his autobiography 'Halli Hakki', had served as primary education and forest minister in the SM Krishna cabinet. That illustrious batch of MLAs elected in 1978, also had Speaker Ramesh Kumar and former minister TB Jayachandra. He said that the election those days was not so transactional and commercial. Stalwarts like Mallikarjun Kharge and Veerappa Moily hail from the even earlier 1972 batch, while Chief Minister Siddaramaiah entered in 1983.

In 1978, Congress alone had 149 MLAs, most of whom had spent only Rs 30,000-50,000 to get elected as MLAs. "Over the years, the amounts paid to voters have only increased," Vishwanath observed.

A man of many political journeys, Vishwanath served as MLA and state president of JDS before making a decisive move in 2019, quitting the party and joining the BJP -- a shift that contributed to the fall of the Kumaraswamy coalition government.

9 yrs on, BASE varsity lacks permanent teaching staff

Says it can invite applications, conduct exams once govt gives nod

RASHMI PATIL @Bengaluru

THOUGH nine years have elapsed since the Dr B R Ambedkar School of Economics (BASE) University was established in Bengaluru, the university, which was to be developed on the lines of London School of Economics, has no permanent teaching staff for its undergraduate and postgraduate courses in economics.

It is a unitary university under the state government running courses specifically in economics. Students from across the country come here to study specialised BSc and MSc courses along with other disciplines.

They have to write the Central University Entrance Test (CUET) to get selected here. The university was established in 2017. While the academic session was inaugurated by former Prime Minister Dr Manmohan Singh in 2017, the newly constructed building was inaugurated by PM Narendra Modi in 2022.

BASE Vice-Chancellor Prof Vishwanatha said, "Initially, it was only 'school of economics' and did not get the status of University. From the beginning, teaching faculty was appointed on an ad-hoc basis which has continued till today even after the school got the university status. A few years ago, the government sanctioned 15 posts to appoint teaching faculty. Soon after, former VC Bhanumurthy prepared a statute as per the University Grants Commission guidelines and submitted it to the state government. The government sought certain clarifications. As Bhanumurthy's term had ended, the clarification to be given to the government regarding recruitment of permanent staff was kept pending."

> From the beginning, teaching faculty was appointed on an ad-hoc basis which has continued till today even after the school got the university status
> —Vishwanatha, BASE Vice-Chancellor

He said, "When I was appointed VC in July 2025, I sent the clarifications to the state government and KSHEC. We were told it was sent to the state finance department. If the department clears the file and permits us, we can invite applications to fill positions. A written exam will be conducted for the candidates along with an interview."

No PhD programmes offered

Due to lack of permanent faculty members, the university has not been able to conduct PhD programmes or take up research activities. As per UGC guidelines, a university must have permanent staff to hold PhD programmes so that PhD scholars are guided without any breaks. Vishwanatha said, "Without PhD programmes, the university will not be able to come out with interesting studies on the condition of the economy or finance of the country and the world. It will remain like any other college teaching the same UG and PG courses in economics.

With permanent staff, we can even apply for grants or funds from the central government to conduct research studies."

International standard curriculum requires qualified teachers Currently, the university has 15 non-permanent teaching staff whose contract gets renewed every 10 months and they are given a 5% salary hike every year. The university also has some visiting professors and industry experts who teach students.

He explained, "Because of the ad hoc arrangement, staff here have no job security and they are forced to look for better opportunities. If they move out, looking for another faculty member to teach our vast curriculum of high standards is a bit tough. Our curriculum is designed in such a way that it matches the standards of international universities. One should have a strong foundation in maths to teach in our university. There is a vast difference between the state syllabus of economics and our curriculum. While selecting teaching faculty, we keep mathematics as an eligibility criterion. Currently, those who teach at our university are from IIT and other reputed institutions. I am not saying that a candidate with a state syllabus background cannot teach here, but they must dedicate some extra time and put effort into analysing our syllabus and way of teaching."

Defreeze KSOU's bank accounts: Guv's office

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

R Prabhu Shankar, secretary to Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot, who is chancellor of Karnataka State Open University (KSOU), has written to the state government asking them to withdraw the communication issued to banks and defreeze the bank accounts of KSOU.

The letter stated, "I draw your attention to the letter of even number dated 27-03-2026 in connection with the direction of the Hon'ble Governor and Chancellor to the State Government to withdraw the communication dated 24.03.2026 issued to SBI Bank to freeze the bank accounts of Karnataka State Open University. Freezing of bank accounts directly impacts academic activities, payment of salaries, disbursement of scholarships, and discharge of statutory obligations, thereby seriously prejudicing the interests of students, faculty, and the public at large (sic)."

The letter added, "Hence, I am directed by the Hon ble Governor and Chancellor to request the State Government to withdraw the communication issued vide letter to the General Manager, State Bank of India to debit freeze the University Accounts and to send an action taken report in compliance with the direction of the Governor and Chancellor at the earliest (sic)."

On March 27, the state government and the higher education department had ordered banks to freeze the accounts of KSOU stating financial irregularities in KSOU Mysuru, and the matter is under inquiry. Also, to safeguard public funds and ensure integrity of the inquiry, the secretary to the government, higher education department, has been requested to freeze (debit freeze) all bank accounts of the university.

The action was taken after the university went ahead to conduct Ekatma Manav Darshan, a three-day international conference at KSOU to celebrate 60 years of Pandit Deendayal Upadhyay's historic lectures despite the government's order to cancel the event.

HC EX-JUDGE APPOINTED CHIEF OF ADMISSION OVERSEEING COMMITTEE

BENGALURU: The state government appointed the retired judge of Karnataka High Court, Justice Ramachandra D Huddar, as the Chairperson for the Admission Overseeing Committee (AOC) for professional courses after two years. Though the term of Justice B Manohar, as a chairperson of AOC, had ended in mid-October 2024, he was appointed to look after the affairs for a year or until further orders of the government. The AOC redresses the grievances of students, such as collecting exorbitant fees, denying the seats and others during admission to professional courses, including engineering and medical. For the past two years, due to the absence of a chairperson for the AOC, the Fee Regulatory Committee has been resolving other issues of students, including fees. ENS

NOT A PRANK: MONKEY BECOMES SURPRISE CUSTOMER AT SALON

KARTHIK K K @Mysuru

IN a rare and amusing incident that has left villagers surprised, a monkey calmly sat inside a salon and appeared to get a haircut at Santhemarahalli village in Chamarajanagar. Devaraju, the shop owner told TNIE that few monkeys had been frequently roaming around the salon for the past few days. However, yesterday it walked directly into the shop and stood in front of the mirror,. He said the monkey spent several minutes looking into the mirror and making playful gestures. Initially startled by the animal's entry, Devaraj later noticed that the monkey was unusually calm and harmless.

In a surprising turn of events, Devaraj seeing it sitting on a chair did a head massage for a while. "I had fear initially but it enjoyed the head massage and slept. Later it jumped on the salon chair and made a gesture like it wanted a hair cut. I picked up a comb and scissors and pretended to style the monkey's hair. The monkey quietly sat like a regular customer, he said. Even when his friends inside the shop tried to shoo it away, the monkey refused to leave the shop until the "grooming session" was complete. Devaraj carefully combed the monkey's head giving it a proper haircut, and the animal patiently cooperated. The video and photographs of the monkey sitting seriously inside the salon shot by his friends have now gone viral on social media, drawing thousands of reactions and comments from netizens.

K'TAKA TO DEPLOY DOG SQUADS ACROSS ALL TIGER RESERVES

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

THE forest department will soon use specially-trained dogs to tackle wildlife crimes, track wild animals (particularly elephants) and to help instil a sense of fear among violators.

A special team is helping the department train 10 female Belgian Malinois in the Bandipur Tiger Reserve. After training, each of the five tiger reserves will have two trained dogs, making Karnataka the first state in the country to have a dedicated dog squad for its tiger reserves.

Earlier, dogs were trained in the Haryana Police Academy and then shifted to forests. But from this year, they will be trained in the forests so that they get used to the stench of wild animals, temperatures and natural environments.

S Prabhakaran, Director, Bandipur Tiger Reserve, who is heading the wildlife dog squad, said the department has taken up a special project to have a dedicated dog squad in the state's tiger reserves. Earlier, dog squads were limited to some divisions only with limited training. Under the new project, the scope of training has been expanded and intensified. Special animal behaviour experts have been roped in for the training programme, he added.

Another senior forest official said many crimes happen in the forests. Many states share forest borders, where illegal activities, including transportation of weapons, drugs, liquor and other banned items, take place. Cases such as poaching of wild animals, tree-felling and timber smuggling are on the rise. The presence of trained dogs at check posts and inside the forests will act as a deterrent. "With this initiative, an information network of police, customs and CRPF will be created," he added.

Existing dog squads have helped in solving cases in Karnataka, Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu and Kerala. In April, the forest department tracked down a wild elephant in Hassan, which had escaped during an operation to capture it, with the help of a dog squad. In another case, dogs were used to catch poachers in the Kali Tiger Reserve, who had escaped in a four-wheeler. Dr Amrut Sindara Hiranya, canine trainer and psychologist working with the department, said the dogs are being trained in detecting animals, identifying them through their skins, and in sniffing sandalwood, tusks and other forest-related items. They are also being trained in tracking snares and combing operations. Explaining the reason for deploying female dogs, Dr Hiranya said they have no hormonal issues. Unlike males, they do not urinate to mark territories, which will impact the natural ecology.

Vijay's rise shows rejection of Dravidian politics: MP

Discusses lift irrigation projects on Cauvery river with DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BJP Mysuru MP Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar on Friday attributed the political rise of former actor and TVK chief Joseph Vijay to the rejection of Dravidian politics by the people of Tamil Nadu.

"Well, everything is clear in hindsight, obviously. But I would say we're all surprised at the ascent of Vijay and his party TVK, and we wish him all the best. Again, the rejection of Dravidian politics, I think, isn't a surprise to any of us. People were fed up with their (Dravidian parties) ... divisive policies, their sort of overly burdening the state with their bad fiscal management, and this has been a reaction to that certainly," he told reporters after calling on DCM D K Shivakumar in Bengaluru to discuss irrigation projects of Mysuru region.

"The fact that he has got a higher mandate than Dravidian parties is something that has to be looked into, I think, for all of us in India; it's a matter to study," he said. Wadiyar recalled that Tamil Nadu as a state has shown this phenomenon many times under MGR (actor and former TN CM M G Ramachandran) and then once again in the 90s. "Nonetheless, I think to singularly say that this is just a wave would also do it a disservice because it is a popular mandate of the people," he said.

Mysuru-Kodagu MP Yaduveer Wadiyar with Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar in Bengaluru, on Friday | EXPRESS

Yaduveer called on Deputy Chief Minister D K Shivakumar and discussed pending lift irrigation projects in KR Nagar and Hunsur. "Even though it does not fall under my constituency, we have requested that the projects be started as soon as possible. Additionally, I have submitted proposals to the ministry to implement a lift irrigation scheme in Kodagu as quickly as possible," he told reporters. He also said that he placed a request for the construction of certain bridges related to the Cauvery irrigation project in Mysuru.

5cr saplings to be planted, lakes to be revived

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka State Legal Services Authority (KSLSA), in collaboration with Dhare Foundation, is launching a large-scale environmental initiative to plant 5 crore saplings across the state, including 2 crore saplings in and around Bengaluru under the 'Green Ring Bengaluru' mission, and 3 crore saplings across other districts of the state, as part of an ecological conservation initiative.

KSLSA member secretary H Shashidhara Shetty said KSLSA will coordinate with the forest department to arrange for saplings and act as a facilitator to identify government land. Dhare Foundation will take care of finances for the project through corporate social responsibility funds.

On the execution framework, it was informed that scientific plantation methods -- Miyawaki, agroforestry, avenue plantation based on geography -- will be adopted, and saplings monitored through GPS tagging and geo-mapping, besides monthly tracking of survival and growth. The initiative also includes lake rejuvenation. Karnataka has more than 45,000 lakes, many of which are degraded.

Min: No land, no consent for nuclear project

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Shivamogga

SHIVAMOGGA district incharge Minister Madhu S Bangarappa on Friday asserted that the state government would not permit the establishment of a nuclear power project in the Malnad region of Shivamogga district, citing the displacement already caused by earlier development projects.

Bangarappa said the Union government had directly proposed the nuclear project to the Deputy Commissioner without consulting the state. He pointed out that Sagar and Hosanagar taluks had already borne the brunt of multiple hydropower projects and reservoirs built across the Sharavathi river, leading to large-scale displacement. "Many people who lost their lands for these projects are still awaiting title deeds even after several decades. At this juncture, another project that could lead to further eviction cannot be tolerated. We will not allow the establishment of a nuclear power plant that could adversely affect people's lives," he said.

IN a major political development that could pave the way for a TVK-led government in Tamil Nadu, the two Left parties and the VCK on Friday decided to lend external support to Vijay, helping his two-year-old party muster the support of 118 MLAs, which is required to prove a majority in the Assembly.

While the state leadership of CPI and CPM formally announced unconditional outside support to TVK, sources in the VCK said they will follow suit, though an official announcement is yet to be made. VCK chief Thol Thirumavalavan will make the official announcement on Saturday morning.

While the Left parties said they will lend external support to the TVK to form the government, stopping short of becoming part of it, they will continue their journey with the DMK on issues concerning secularism, state rights and welfare policies. Sources in the VCK said, as things stand on Friday, the party is unlikely to seek a share in power. There were internal voices favouring cabinet berths, and a deputy CM post for Thirumavalavan. However, senior leaders inside the party are learnt to have rejected the proposal.

VCK is also exploring a possibility of setting up a condition to extend support to TVK. These could range from continuing the welfare schemes introduced by the DMK government in the last five years and not to initiate any "revenge actions" against politicians. After the high-level committee, Thirumavalavan met DMK president MK Stalin to discuss the possibility of resigning his MP post and then contesting a by-election.

CPI state secretary M Veerapandian said the decision to ally with TVK was taken in view of the people's mandate and to avoid the possibility of governor's rule and the subsequent entry of BJP "through the back door". "The people have made a democratic proposal, and we have endorsed it," he said. P Shanmugam, state secretary of the CPM, clarified that the support extended to TVK was not a political alliance. "This support is only for the formation of the government. We will not join the cabinet," he said. On reports of AIADMK general secretary Edappadi K Palaniswami exploring the possibility of forming a government with DMK support, Shanmugam said, "We have pledged support to TVK. How can we support them?" The Left leaders also said they believed TVK is suitable for forming a secular government since the party openly declared the BJP as its ideological opponent. Sources said TVK deputy general secretary CTR Nirmalkumar held talks with Left parties and the IUML, while general secretary Aadhav Arjuna was in touch with Thirumavalavan to shore up the numbers. The DMK is learnt to have urged the VCK to support the AIADMK in forming the government. However, sources close to Thirumavalavan said he was sceptical of the idea because of its alliance with the BJP and weighed the pros and cons before deciding to support TVK. Similarly, the DMK had also suggested the same idea to both Left parties, urging them to support AIADMK in forming a government.

CPM general secretary MA Baby, speaking to a television channel, said the DMK had told them that they were in favour of supporting an AIADMK government from the outside and expected the Left to follow suit.

"It was decided that the leaders would meet DMK chief Stalin and say that it was not their intention to oppose the DMK but that we are not going to accept their political line to support the AIADMK, which was with the BJP," Baby said.

AINRC leader Rangasamy will return as the CM of Puducherry for the fifth time

Rangasamy to take oath as Pondy CM on May 13

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Puducherry

AFTER his appointment as leader of NDA, N Rangasamy on Friday met Lieutenant Governor K. Kailashnathan and handed over a letter formally staking claim to form the new government in Puducherry. The swearing-in ceremony has been tentatively scheduled for May 13.

The NDA won 18 seats in the 30-member Assembly, securing more than 50% of the total seats. The All-India NR Congress (AINRC) emerged victorious in 12 seats, while the BJP won four. The AIADMK and the Lakshya Jananaga Katchi (LJK) secured one seat each.

Prior to staking claim, a consultative meeting of NDA legislators and alliance leaders was held at a private hotel on Friday afternoon, where Rangasamy was unanimously chosen as the leader of the alliance and the CM candidate. The meeting, which began at 3.15 pm, lasted for about an hour. Among those present were Union minister Mansukh Mandaviya, Tamil Nadu BJP chief Nainar Nagenthran, Puducherry BJP chief VP Ramalingam, AIADMK MLA A Anbalagan and LJK's Jose Charles Martin.

Following the meeting, Rangasamy met the L-G and submitted letters of support from alliance parties, marking a record fifth time he has staked claim to form a government in Puducherry. Official sources said the L-G will forward the proposal to the Ministry of Home Affairs for approval by the President and issuance of the warrant of appointment.

DMK in oppn, question lingers on LoP pick

PRABHAKAR TAMILARASU @ Chennai

WITH the DMK securing 59 seats, down from the 133 seats it secured in 2021 elections, the party still emerged as the second-largest party, giving it the numerical standing to stake claim to the Leader of the Opposition (LoP) post. However, the more pressing question that lingers within Anna Arivalayam (DMK headquarters) is – who would lead the Opposition. DMK chief M K Stalin, who resigned as chief minister on May 5, lost his Kolathur seat by 8,795 votes to TVK's V S Babu, ruling him out of the Assembly floor. His son Udhayanidhi Stalin, who won the Chepauk-Thiruvallikeni seat by 7,140 votes, is the most prominent name whispered among the party workers.

Party insiders indicate that the choice of LoP will signal whether the DMK would opt for the continuity of the Stalin legacy or trigger a transition for someone from outside the family. Udhayanidhi, who served as deputy CM in the outgoing cabinet and steered the party's youth outreach, is seen as the front-runner. If not for him, the other names doing the rounds were that of DMK leaders K N Nehru and Thangam Thennarasu.

"There are two things discussed inside the party. Since one of the main feedback given to us (following the party's defeat in this election) was dynasty politics, the DMK is sceptical to again elect a person from the party's first family. But, on the other hand, by being made the LoP, he will be the face of the party in the Assembly and the narrative would be Vijay Vs Udhayanidhi which would make things easier for us in the coming election," a senior leader in the DMK told The New Indian Express.

DMK's 59-strong legislative group is expected to meet in the coming days to formally elect its legislature party leader, a decision that will set the tone for how the party positions itself against the Vijay government.

Meanwhile, DMK's deputy general secretary and MP Kanimozhi Karunanidhi has written to the Speaker of Lok Sabha requesting to change the seating arrangements in the Lower House. "In view of the changed circumstances, and as our alliance with the Congress has come to an end, it may not be appropriate for our members to continue occupying the present seating arrangement," Kanimozhi said in a letter to the Speaker.

Now, AIADMK camp falls silent

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

IN a late twist, the AMMK on Friday released a letter purportedly signed by its lone MLA S Kamaraj, extending support to a government headed by AIADMK general secretary Edappadi K Palaniswami. and addressed to the governor. There was a speculation that the Mannargudi MLA had decided to back Vijay after the Left parties extended support to the TVK. However, AMMK general secretary TTV Dhinakaran dismissed the reports and said Kamaraj continues to stay at the Puducherry resort along with AIADMK legislators.

Meanwhile, the AIADMK camp, which had been abuzz with activity over the past three days amid intense post-poll developments, fell noticeably silent on Friday. The residence of AIADMK general secretary Edappadi K Palaniswami, which had witnessed a steady stream of visitors in recent days, appeared largely deserted by the evening.

Several MLAs-elect staying at a private resort in Puducherry returned to Chennai, while a few continued to remain there. Party leaders were unavailable for comment on the next course of action.

A section of the MLAs returning from Puducherry said they had been asked to stay in Chennai on Friday as the party could convene a meeting of newly elected legislators to elect the legislature party leader.

For the past few days, there had been widespread speculation that the DMK was willing to extend support to an AIADMK-led government if the TVK failed to prove its majority. Though AIADMK leaders did not openly acknowledge such discussions, their statements indirectly suggested they were expecting such support. There was also speculation that a MLAs-elect, led by senior leaders C Ve Shanmugam and S P Velumani, were open to supporting the TVK.

The two leaders held a series of meetings, fuelling rumours of possible political realignments. At the height of it all, Palaniswami visited the resort and addressed party MLAs. During the meeting, MLAs were asked to sign two forms, the purpose of which remains unclear.

Majority of Cong MLAs favour KC as Kerala CM

ALTHOUGH the observers did not make any recommendation for a specific candidate, sources said a majority of the MLAs are in favour of making KC Venugopal the Kerala CM. The observers conveyed to Kharge the public mood, the preferences of UDF allies and the political situation in the state. Sources said the public show of strength by the Satheesan camp has not gone down well with the central leadership and might work against his prospects, citing the Rajasthan situation where Sachin Pilot's open push for the CM post complicated internal party equations.

Kerala Pradesh Congress Committee president Sunny Joseph and working presidents AP Anil Kumar and Shafi Parambil have also reached Delhi. Sources said Kharge and Rahul would convene a meeting of Kerala leaders and the contenders to formally communicate the high command's decision. "Rahul is also likely to explain how the high command arrived at its decision, along with the political and social considerations behind it," they added.

URGENCY NEEDED IN OIL EXPLORATION AND PRODUCTION PROJECTS

ENERGY supply shortages due to the West Asia war have put a spotlight on India's need to ramp up its domestic oil exploration and production efforts. While petrol and diesel supplies remain adequate for now, LPG shortages have persisted, prompting a parliamentary panel to call for an urgent review next week to focus on domestic production. The oil and gas import bill for 2025-26 is expected to cross $120 billion and, given the volatility in global prices and weakening rupee, it's likely to stay elevated through 2026-27. At less than 1 percent of the proven global reserves, India's crude stocks do not amount to much compared to that of large producers. Yet, domestic production caters to about 15-18 percent of the country's substantial demand at present. So, the import reliance will be reduced from over 80 percent if production can be raised at home.

Even though India has 3.36 million sq km of sedimentary basins, just 10 percent is under exploration as several of the 26 frontier and deepwater basins remain underexplored. According to S&P Global Commodity Insights, only four largely-unexplored sedimentary basins could hold up to 22 billion barrels of oil. The government has been trying to raise production, with ONGC investing $10 billion in developing multiple deepwater projects in the Krishna-Godavari basin and Oil India attempting to double its exploration acreage. As the Prime Minister recently noted, India can draw more foreign funds into the energy sector, with a $500-billion investment potential estimated by the end of this decade.

While beefing up investments is essential, India must move to increase production too, as it would reduce import dependency in the near term, ensuring energy security, economic stability and industrial growth. It must be borne in mind that new oil projects have long gestation periods—requiring at least 10-15 years from exploration to commercial production, apart from significant capital. Then there are maturing fields like at Mumbai High and in Assam that have gone past peak production and need recovery efforts through secondary and tertiary techniques. In sum, while India keeps its eyes on transitioning to renewable energy sources, it needs to sharply increase its efforts to produce oil by attracting substantial domestic and foreign investments that can bring in advanced recovery technologies and monetise the resources at a faster clip.

KEEP POLITICS AWAY FROM PUNJAB'S SECURITY WORRIES

THE recent explosions and attempted attacks in Punjab demand a calm and firm response instead of dramatic political reactions. The twin blasts near the BSF Frontier headquarters in Jalandhar and the Khasa military camp in Amritsar on May 5, along with earlier incidents in Patiala and Sirhind, show a worrying rise in coordinated acts of violence. Security offices, railway tracks, political centres, religious places and local leaders have all been targeted in recent months. Punjab Police have described these cases as joint operations involving gangsters, local criminals and extremist networks backed by Pakistan's Inter-Services Intelligence.

Investigators believe some groups are using Khalistani propaganda to create fear and instability in the state. Recoveries of rocket-propelled grenades and crude homemade explosives also point to continuing efforts to disturb the peace. Although the police have arrested several suspects and dismantled some modules, the repeated incidents reveal clear gaps in intelligence coordination, policing and protection at vulnerable sites. In the Patiala case, the police made a major breakthrough, arresting four radicalised youth, reportedly connected to a pro-Khalistani terror module. They identified one of the four as the key conspirator, who they claimed was reportedly in touch with secessionist gangs based in Malaysia as well as arms suppliers from Pakistan.

Punjab has a long history of militancy and cross-border concerns that took decades to address. The state's political history has been marked by the Punjabi Suba movement, militancy, Operation Blue Star, Centre-state tensions and the farmers' protests. Issues related to identity, autonomy and federal rights remain deeply emotional for many, especially in rural Sikh communities. The political season swirling up before the 2027 Assembly election should not feed into old divisive narratives in this sensitive border state.

The main priority now should be fair investigations, stronger policing, better coordination between security agencies and quick legal action against those involved. These incidents must be handled as serious public safety issues, not turned into political battles for headlines. Political parties should stay away from communal remarks, extreme nationalist messaging and careless statements that give indirect support to criminal and extremist networks. Punjab has already seen the damage caused by violence, fear and mistrust. What the state needs is peace, coordinated security and responsible politics.

QUICK TAKE

WHOSE HERITAGE IS IT?

WE are quick to proclaim pride in our heritage, but are slow in preserving it. This is particularly true in the national capital, one of the few in the world with more than two millenniums of built history. An exasperated Supreme Court recently directed the Delhi Police Commissioner to instruct all stations to protect heritage structures from encroachment, theft, mutilation and vandalism. The bench warned of personal liability if the order went unheeded. A parliamentary committee recently noted that though the Archaeological Survey claims more than a third of the culture ministry's budget, its responsibility has also grown as India now ranks sixth globally with 44 Unesco World Heritage Sites. We need a more holistic effort—not just to protect, but also to kindle citizens' ownership in conservation efforts.

Bengal and Bengalis have been typecast in ill-fitting ways in recent decades. The state had a booming economy not long ago. Time has come to recapture its civilisational identity

THE RENAISSANCE REQUIRED IN THE EAST AGAIN

SANJEEV SANYAL

Economist and writer

SOURAV ROY

THE recent political shift in West Bengal has by now been analysed threadbare in the media and in street-corners across the country. Many commentators have also discussed the possibility that it could present a major opportunity to reverse the state's long-term economic decline.

West Bengal accounted for 10.5 percent of India's GDP in 1960-61 and, despite Partition, was the third largest economy in the country. Today, that share has shrunk to 5.8 percent of the national economy and is falling. Similarly, per-capita income has dropped from 127.5 percent of the national average, the third highest after Delhi and Maharashtra, to just 80 percent.

There are many reasons for Bengal's economic decline ranging from the rupture with the hinterland of East Bengal to the absurdities of socialist planning (freight equalisation is just one example). Many of the wounds were self-inflicted by successive state governments that demonised private enterprise, neglected infrastructure and needlessly antagonised the central government. This tipped the state into a vicious cycle of financial and human capital flight. In turn, this resulted in intellectual and cultural stagnation.

The Bengali community—once famous for thinkers like Swami Vivekananda and Vidyasagar, poets like Rabindranath Tagore and Bankim Chandra Chattopadhyay, scientists like Jagadish Chandra Bose and Meghnad Saha, political leaders like Subhas Bose and Chittaranjan Das—is today seen mostly as the source of household help in Gurgaon and Bengaluru. There is nothing wrong in working as household help (all labour should be respected) but, as a proud people, it hurts that this is now our place in the world.

This economic decline, however, does not present the most important cause for concern. Politics and economics are downstream of culture, and the roots of the problem lie in a fundamental decay of Bengali civilisational anchors. Partition bears some of the blame but much of it is deliberate sabotage. The way Bengalis perceive their history and culture has been systematically manipulated for two generations in order to change their understanding of themselves as a people.

Today, most people have the impression that Bengalis are somehow culturally against private enterprise. This is not borne out by history. For most of history, Bengal was home to the country's (and the world's) largest ports—Tamralipti, Chandraketugarh, Hugli and Kolkata. Bengali folklore and literature are full of merchants like Chand Saudagar. It is well-known that Kolkata was built by the British on the site of three villages, but they were for weaver communities: Sutanuti, as the name suggests, was a textile hub.

At the time of independence, many of the country's most successful companies were not just in Bengal but owned by Bengalis—Calcutta Chemicals, Mohini Mills, Bengal Chemicals, Sulekha Ink, to name just a few. Yet, a member of Parliament representing the state confidently argued recently that Kolkata was never home to an industrial base!

This should not be seen as the result of ignorance, but part of a systematic pattern. Bengali literature boasts luminaries like Tagore and Nazrul Islam, but the poetry being promoted today is made up of meaningless nonsense words like "opang-jhopang" and "hamba-bamba-ramba". This is not innocent babbling but a way to create dissonance in how Bengalis understand their language. School textbooks, similarly, have been edited over half a century to break the links to older literary traditions.

Most Hindu Bengalis belong to the Shakta tradition—that is, they worship goddesses as the primary deities. The Shakta festivals define the Bengali year. The festival of Saraswati puja, dedicated to the Goddess of knowledge and the arts, has always been popular with students and artists. The festival has been subtly re-branded in recent years as the Bengali Valentine's Day. I have no particular problem with boys and girls going out on a date, but the shift in emphasis from a celebration of learning to that of teenage hormones is quite palpable.

A similar shift is being attempted for Durga Puja, perhaps the most sacred festival of the Bengali Hindus. At least in Kolkata, the festival is being unhooked from its religious moorings and being converted into a secular, cultural festival where the idol of Goddess Durga is merely a prop for a selfie. Again, this is not just natural evolution driven by commercialisation, but deliberately guided by an intellectual class that cannot even bear to call the festival by its proper name and refers to it as Sharodiya or Sharad Utsab, the Autumn Festival.

Note that cultural manipulation is not restricted to Bengali Hindus and is also being attempted on Bengali Muslims. The state-sponsored promotion of Urdu among Bengali Muslims is part of this agenda. Urdu was never the language of Bengali Muslims. Indeed, the Bengalis of Muslim-majority East Pakistan rose in revolt against Urdu imposition in 1971, leading to the creation of Bangladesh. The irony is that the same language has been promoted in West Bengal in recent years as the language of Bengali Muslims.

As the civilisational roots of West Bengal are being deliberately chipped away, it has left an intellectual and socio-cultural vacuum. The sneering of "aantel" intellectuals cannot fill an emptiness that creates the space for all manner of dystopian ideas and ideologies. This is the source of Bengal's political anarchism, mindless trade unionism, militant student activism and deadwood intellectualism—all merely trying to fill that hole in the heart. It also means that an important border state is susceptible to external interference.

I will leave it to readers to judge the "who" and "why" of the systematic manipulation of Bengali identity sustained over the decades, but I hope the article provides a glimpse of "how" it is being done. For West Bengal and Kolkata to rise again, Bengalis need to recapture their civilisational identity. Interestingly, another Indian state currently suffers from a very similar economic and socio-cultural crisis—Punjab, the other state that experienced Partition.

LAYERS WITHIN THE CASTE PYRAMID

PRAVEEN CHAKRAVARTY

Convenor of the Expert Group on Telangana Caste Census & co-developer of the CBI framework

THE Union government gives special grants only for those states or regions that are deemed 'backward' for their development to bring them on par with others. But what determines if a state is backward?

Economic metrics such as gross domestic product and per-capita income are used to measure the relative backwardness of states. Sounds logical, right? Similarly, shouldn't social justice schemes also focus more on castes that are more backward than others? If yes, how does one measure the relative backwardness of a caste?

For the first time in India, a composite backwardness index (CBI) has been constructed in Telangana to objectively measure the relative backwardness of a caste. The analytical framework is methodologically modest in description and conceptually radical in implication: it produces a single, comparable number for the relative backwardness of each of 242 caste groups, derived from the responses of 3.55 crore people across 75 fields of information.

The CBI is built on 42 equally-weighted parameters spanning education, occupation, income, land and assets, living conditions, access to finance, gender and social discrimination. Each caste is scored on a scale of 0 to 126, where a higher score denotes greater backwardness. The least backward caste in Telangana, the Kapu community, scores 12. The most backward, the scheduled caste Dakkal, scores 116. The state average is 81. Above that line lie 135 of the 242 castes, accounting for two-thirds of the population. Below it lie 107, including all 18 general castes. The numbers, for the first time, settle questions that have so far been the province of assertion.

The Mandal Commission, whose 1980 report shaped four decades of reservation policy, used 11 parameters and relied largely on field visits and judgement to classify social and educational backwardness. It was a serious effort with the tools then available. The CBI uses 42 parameters and 3.55 crore observations, distinguishes rural and urban living standards within each parameter, and produces a continuous score rather than a binary classification.

The CBI provides empirical evidence of the established ugly truth of Indian society—people belonging to SC and ST communities are three times and the backward classes 2.7 times more backward than the general castes. A whopping two-thirds of Telangana's population belong to really oppressed castes that badly need help.

The index also changes the paradigm of welfare design, which has so far been built around broad clusters such as BC, SC and ST. The data shows that even within these groups, inequality is sharp. The SC Madiga community is more than double the population of SC Malas and 15 percent more backward. Shaik Muslims are five times more numerous than general-caste Muslims and 40 percent more backward. People from the Padmasali BC are actually less backward than the state average. Aggregating these communities into a single category obscures more than it reveals.

AFP

A unique index set up for Telangana found that more than land ownership, English-medium education and formal-sector employment were stronger predictors of a caste's relative backwardness. It also revealed advantages the general castes enjoy that money alone can't buy, like networks of access

Nearly a third of the beneficiaries of Telangana's flagship welfare schemes belong to castes less backward than the state average. The CBI reframes the welfare question itself: instead of filling a common well from which marginalised groups draw in proportion to their population, the state can now deliver resources in proportion to each caste's backwardness.

The CBI also reveals the specific drivers of backwardness. Contrary to popular belief, it is not land ownership but access to English-medium education that is the strongest predictor of where a caste sits on the scale. People from the Lambadi tribe and Mudiraj backward group rank well on irrigated land ownership, but remain among the more backward groups. Meanwhile, the Gouds, goldsmiths and BC Christians score better than the average because of school access.

The CBI also shatters the myth that caste ceases to matter among the very poor. Among households earning under ₹1 lakh a year, the gap in scores across general castes, BCs, SCs and STs mirrors the gap among the rich. Even at this income level, 34 percent of children from general castes attend private school, against just 5 percent of SC and ST children. The general castes carry advantages—networks, language, expectations—that money alone does not buy. A third of all private-sector professionals in Telangana are from the general castes; only 4 percent are STs, despite the two groups being similar in population.

Taken together, the findings argue for a recalibration rather than a rejection of the existing social justice framework. India's policy architecture was built around the village economy, where land, water and access to common spaces were binding constraints. Those have not disappeared, but they have been joined or overtaken by access to the institutions that determine modern economic outcomes—English-medium schools, private healthcare and formal-sector employment.

Three caveats. First, the CBI is a relative measure within Telangana; it ranks castes against each other, not against the rest of the country. Second, like all self-reported survey data, it carries biases on land, income and occupation that smooth-out at the aggregate level but should not be over-read at the margin. Third, the choice of 42 parameters and equal weights is a defensible starting point, not a final answer; future iterations will refine both. None of these undermines the analytical framework itself.

The Telangana 'CBI' has finished the investigation. The questions now are if the polity has the intent and expertise to render justice based on the verdict, and will the rest of the nation follow Telangana's lead.

After Cong's Vijay move, DMK seeks separate seat in House

Tensions within INDIA bloc as Akhilesh comes out in support of Stalin party and TMC chief

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

IN a sign of tensions within the Opposition INDIA bloc, the Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam (DMK) on Friday formally requested a separate seating arrangement for its Members of Parliament in the Lok Sabha following the collapse of its alliance with the Congress.

Adding to the churn, Samajawadi Party (SP) chief Akhilesh Yadav, featuring images with DMK and TMC leaders, reiterated that his party remains a reliable partner even during testing times. In a letter addressed to Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla, DMK parliamentary party leader K. Kanimozhi said the party's MPs could no longer continue sharing benches with Congress members in the House in view of the changed political atmosphere.

"In view of the changed political circumstances and as our alliance with the Indian National Congress has come to an end, it may not be appropriate for our Members to continue occupying the present seating arrangement alongside them in the House," Kanimozhi wrote.

She further urged the Speaker to make "necessary arrangements" for separate seating for DMK MPs so they could "effectively discharge their responsibilities in the August House."

Dravidian party accuses Congress of backstabbing

As the TVK-led alliance is set to assume power in Tamil Nadu, Congress will return to power-sharing in the state for the first time since 1967. The DMK has reacted sharply to Congress's decision, with leaders from the Dravidian party accusing its former ally of "backstabbing".

The development comes days after the Congress ended its decades-old alliance with the DMK and extended support to actor politician Vijay's Tamilaga Vetri Kazhagam (TVK) in Tamil Nadu. The move is being seen as a major political realignment in the state. Congress leaders have indicated that their support for TVK would be conditional, though the party has also hinted at a longer-term partnership with Vijay's outfit.

As the TVK-led alliance is set to assume power in Tamil Nadu, Congress will return to power-sharing in the state for the first time since 1967. The DMK has reacted sharply to Congress's decision, with leaders from the Dravidian party accusing its former ally of "backstabbing." The party has also passed a resolution condemning Congress's move to align with the TVK.

The fallout is being viewed as a setback for the INDIA bloc, of which the DMK has been one of the strongest pillars and the fourth largest contributor to the alliance's Lok Sabha strength. With DMK's other alliance partners, the Left parties and the VCK also joining the TVK, the split could further weaken opposition unity at the national level, especially at a time when the bloc has already been struggling with internal differences and electoral setbacks following the 2024 general elections. The stance of other key allies, including Shiv Sena (UBT) and NCP (SP), will also be closely watched in the coming days.

In his post, accompanied by photographs with DMK president M.K. Stalin and TMC chief Mamata Banerjee, Akhilesh Yadav wrote, "We are not the ones who abandon each other in times of difficulty." In response, Kanimozhi said on X, "Thank you for the solidarity and support."

Yadav's comment is likely to be closely watched by Congress leaders, particularly as the party hopes to renew its alliance with the Samajwadi Party ahead of the 2027 UP state polls.

L-G can exercise J&K govt power to regulate services under Telecom Act

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

IN a major administrative move, the Centre has authorised the Lieutenant Governor (L-G) of Jammu and Kashmir to exercise the powers of the "State Government" under provisions of the Telecommunications Act, 2023, further expanding the Union Territory administration's authority over telecom governance and regulatory affairs.

According to the order issued on Thursday, the President directed the L-G to exercise the powers and discharge the functions of the state government under Sub-Section 20 (2) of the Telecommunications Act, 2023 (44 of 2023), which deals with situations involving public safety and national security, within the Union territory.

The order effectively enables the J&K administration, headed by the Lieutenant Governor, to take decisions on matters linked to telecom operations and regulatory oversight under the Act. Section 20 of the Telecommunications Act deals with provisions related to telecom services during public emergencies, security concerns and other critical situations requiring government intervention.

Officials also indicated that the latest step is in line with Jammu and Kashmir's constitutional status as a Union Territory, where key administrative powers are exercised under the supervision of the Union government. The move is also being viewed as part of the Centre's broader effort to streamline governance and strengthen administrative control in the region.

According to officials, the Union Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) formalised the decision through an official notification issued by the government and published in the Gazette of India on May 7, 2026. The decision was taken in view of the security sensitivity of the Union Territory.

Issued under notification number S.O. 2288(E), the order states that the President of India, acting under Article 239(1) of the Constitution, has directed the Administrator of the Union Territory of Jammu and Kashmir—the Lieutenant Governor—to exercise powers under Section 20(2) of the Telecommunications Act, 2023, officials said. The notification stipulates that the L-G, acting as the Administrator of the Union Territory, will, "subject to the control of the President and until further orders", discharge the functions and responsibilities assigned to a State Government under the specified section of the law.

Using the powers, the L-G can block the transmission, allow interception, order decryption of messages, and suspend telecom services in the event of any public emergency or in the interest of public safety

The Telecommunications Act, 2023, serves as India's new legal framework governing telecom services, infrastructure, spectrum management and related regulatory mechanisms.

Hantavirus: 2 Indians aboard Dutch cruise ship kept under observation

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

TWO Indian nationals are among the crew members onboard the Dutch cruise ship, which has reported the dreaded hantavirus outbreak that has led to the death of three and infected many.

According to officials in the union health ministry, the two Indian nationals are reportedly on board the vessel. "Both individuals are presently asymptomatic and are under observation in accordance with established international health protocols," the official said.

India said they are "closely monitoring the evolving situation" relating to reported cases of hantavirus infection onboard the cruise ship MV Hondius in coordination with the National Centre for Disease Control (NCDC), Integrated Disease Surveillance Programme (IDSP), World Health Organization (WHO), and other international health authorities. India has also activated precautionary surveillance measures amid the low global risk assessment of the zoonotic virus. WHO has said that the risk to the global population from the outbreak is low.

The WHO has confirmed a rare strain of hantavirus known to spread from person to person through close contact in patients linked to the cruise ship, which started from Argentina across the Atlantic.

Not the start of another pandemic, clarifies WHO

Three deaths, including that of a Dutch couple, have been reported. The WHO notified the incident in the first week of May. The world health body has also said that the outbreak is not the start of a pandemic like Covid-19 six years ago, as the hantavirus strain spreads through "close contact". It however said more cases are possible in the coming days.

The outbreak has triggered global concern, as the Andes strain of hantavirus is linked to human-to-human transmission.

"In view of the evolving situation and as a precautionary public health measure, the Public Health Emergency Operations Centre (PHEOC) under IDSP, NCDC, convened a high-level review meeting involving senior officials from IDSP and IHR-NFP India to assess the situation and review preparedness measures," the official said.

"The Union Health Ministry remains vigilant and is maintaining close coordination with the WHO and other international partners," the official informed.

The senior health ministry official said as per preliminary information shared through WHO under the International Health Regulations (IHR) framework, a total of eight cases of hantavirus infection have been reported onboard the vessel, of which five cases have been laboratory-confirmed.

Students account for 8.5% of suicides

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

THE latest report by the National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB) presents a grim picture of the mental make-up of the student community. Despite government-led concerted efforts at the national and state level to address their mental well-being, a high figure of 8.48% of the overall suicides reported in the country are from the student community. This marks a clear increase during the last decade.

"The Accident Deaths and Suicides 2024" report made public on May 7 revealed that 14,488 students have taken their lives across campuses. They form a significant portion of the 1,70,746 suicides reported across India. Data compared in 2014 reveals that the suicides stood at 8,068, which was 6.1% of the overall suicide figures that year. Past data reveal an average of at least 13,000 students took the extreme step. In 2021, it was 13,089 deaths, in 2022, the number stood at 13,044, while in 2023, it was 13,892.

While the individual breakup of states could not be obtained from this specific report released this week, data assessed by The IC3 Institute, a non-profit that helps schools across the world set up professional counselling departments, revealed in its report 'The Student Suicides: An Epidemic Sweeping India' in August 2024 that Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, and Madhya Pradesh are identified as the states with the highest number of student suicides, together accounting for one-third of the national suicide numbers. The Southern States and the Union Territories generally contribute to one-third of the suicides in the country, past data reveals.

Former Director of the Centre for Policy Research in Higher Education, Professor N V Varghese, told this newspaper, "There are three major reasons for student suicides. Students do not feel inclined or feel they have it in them to clear competitive exams like NEET or JEE, but parents goad them to do it. Unable to meet the burden of expectations, they feel very stressed, forcing them to take the extreme steps. The recurring suicides in Kota, where coaching centres for such institutes mushroom, is a case in point," he said.

Additionally, the "humiliation" meted out to Socially Disadvantaged Group (SDG) students by the rest also creates enormous emotional stress for them, the educationist said. "If you look at the recent suicide by a student in Kerala, the student was humiliated enormously by the administration, forcing him to take his life." Another reason is the peer pressure they face to live up to the lifestyle of students who are financially better off, Varghese added.

The upward trend in suicides has happened despite huge efforts undertaken by the government to redress it.

The Supreme Court-appointed National Test Force had in August 2025 launched a dedicated portal to address mental health concerns. The National Suicide Prevention Strategy was launched in 2022 to bring down suicide mortality by 10 per cent across the country.

The Education Ministry launched initiatives like Manodarpan and a toll-free helpline 14416 under the Tele-Manas programme to boost student mental health. The National Mental Health Policy 2014 and the Mental Healthcare Act of 2017 are notable legal provisions. Following a spate of suicides at IITs in the past few months, a panel was set up to identify the causes and put an end to their recurrence.

'Why witnesses not produced in Kheri case?'

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday expressed disappointment over the slow pace of the trial against Ashish Mishra, son of former Union minister Ajay Mishra, and others in the 2021 Lakhimpur Kheri violence case.

After being informed that witnesses had not appeared for the past two months, the top court directed the trial court to take lawful measures to secure their presence while ensuring compliance with the witness protection scheme.

The case relates to allegations that a vehicle linked to Ashish Mishra rammed into a crowd in October 2021, killing eight people, including four farmers protesting against the controversial farm laws.

"We are disappointed to note that the so-called status report does not assign any reason for the non-production of witnesses on previous dates. No witness appears to have been examined for two months," the court said.

The Bench also took note of a third connected trial concerning the alleged intimidation of witnesses. According to the status report, although a chargesheet had been filed, the role of one accused was still under investigation.

The court directed the investigating officer to conclude the probe and file a report before the trial court within four weeks. A Bench comprising Chief Justice Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi observed that the status report filed by the Uttar Pradesh government failed to provide any explanation for the non-production of witnesses.

The Bench noted that no witness had been examined for around two months. Questioning the prosecution over the delay, Justice Bagchi asked, "What have you done from March till today?" The state failed to provide a satisfactory answer.

SC: Expedite trial of cases lodged under NIA act

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday issued directions to expedite trials pending before special courts in cases under the NIA Act across the states.

"If there are over 15 trials pending within the jurisdiction of a particular HC, then two courts shall be set up. Where trials are more than 25, three courts will be set up," said a bench of CJI Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi. Stressing the need for dedicated infrastructure for cases involving anti-terror laws, the court directed that there shall be at least one special NIA court for every 10-15 pending trials.

It was hearing a suo motu case registered in February to oversee creation of special courts to tackle pendency of criminal trials under special laws.

DRDO, IAF test TARA kit that turns 'dumb' bombs into precision weapons

JAVARIA RANA @ New Delhi

INDIA on Friday successfully flight-tested Tactical Advanced Range Augmentation (TARA), an indigenously developed glide-bomb kit that can convert conventional unguided bombs into long-range precision weapons, a capability the Indian Air Force (IAF) has so far depended largely on foreign-origin systems to achieve.

The DRDO and IAF carried out the maiden trial of the system off the Odisha coast using a Jaguar strike aircraft as the launch platform. Developed by Hyderabad-based Research Centre Imarat (RCI), TARA is essentially a bolt-on range-extension and precision-guidance kit for the IAF's existing inventory of High-Speed Low Drag (HSLD) and General Purpose (GP) / dumb bombs.

Sources said the operational significance lies in the stand-off capability the system offers. "With TARA, fighters can strike heavily defended targets without entering the engagement envelope of hostile air-defence systems, a requirement increasingly central to contemporary air warfare," a source said. The glide-kit is being integrated across multiple IAF fighter platforms including the Jaguar, Mirage-2000, Sukhoi Su-30MKI and the homegrown Tejas aircraft, potentially giving the force a common stand-off strike capability across fleets.

"TARA is broadly comparable to the Israeli-origin SPICE precision-guided bomb kits already operational with the IAF. However, the homegrown system is expected to substantially reduce costs while allowing the air force to utilise existing bomb stockpiles instead of procuring entirely new missile inventories," the source added.

The system deploys wing and tail units after release and uses inertial navigation, GPS-assisted guidance and electro-optical seekers to convert conventional "dumb" bombs into stand-off precision weapons capable of striking targets with a high degree of accuracy.

Being developed in 250-kg, 450-kg and 500-kg configurations, TARA-equipped bombs can hit targets at ranges of 150-180 km when released from an altitude of around 5 km at speeds approaching Mach 0.8.

The system is geared to achieve an accuracy level of under five metres circular error probability, with some developmental trials recording even tighter precision under favourable conditions.

Comes from a powerful Congress family in East Midnapore, Suvendu's rise in saffron party quick ● Red facade of building back in power

Once Mamata lieutenant, he steered BJP landslide

SUBHENDU MAITI @ New Delhi

FROM a powerful Congress family in East Midnapore's Kanthi, Suvendu Adhikari started his political journey in Chhatra Parishad, the Congress student wing, before emerging as a poster boy of the Trinamool Congress and a close lieutenant of Mamata Banerjee during the 2006-07 land acquisition movement in Nandigram.

His father, Sisir Adhikari, served as a three-term MP and Union Minister of State for Rural Development during the UPA-2 government, while Suvendu himself served two terms as MP during UPA-1 and UPA-2. Adhikari quit the party and his ministerial post in December 2020, ahead of the 2021 Assembly elections. He soon emerged as a prominent anti-Mamata face in the BJP and developed close ties with Union Home Minister Amit Shah.

His relationship with the Trinamool leadership deteriorated steadily as the influence of Mamata Banerjee's nephew Abhishek Banerjee grew within the organisation, particularly after he was made chief of the party's youth wing.

After joining the BJP, Adhikari became the party's most visible fighter against the Trinamool Congress. His stature rose sharply after he defeated Mamata Banerjee in the high-voltage Nandigram contest in 2021. In 2026, he repeated the feat in Bhabanipur, considered Mamata's safest political fortress, defeating her by more than 15,000 votes while retaining Nandigram.

On Friday, the 56-year-old Leader of the Opposition in the last Assembly was chosen as the BJP legislature party leader, and the state's first BJP chief minister, at a meeting chaired by Shah in Kolkata.

Though the BJP failed to form the government in 2021 and won 77 seats, Adhikari emerged as the party's most aggressive voice against the Mamata government inside and outside the Assembly.

As Leader of the Opposition, Adhikari led legislative battles and street protests against the TMC regime, spearheading agitations over alleged post-poll violence, corruption, unemployment and law and order. He also repeatedly led protests during the 2023 panchayat elections and became a face of the BJP's campaign over the Sandeshkhali unrest in 2024.

That turbulent phase was marked by repeated confrontations with the TMC establishment, during which Adhikari and several BJP legislators faced multiple suspensions from the Assembly.

BJP will function from Writers', not Nabanna from where TMC ruled

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

FOR decades till 2013, the red façade of the Writers' Buildings had administered Bengal. And now, after years of silence, the old building at BBD Bag, in the heart of Kolkata, is preparing to awaken again.

The BJP is keen that its first-ever government should function from Writers', shifting from Nabanna in Howrah, which Mamata Banerjee made her power citadel in 2013.

The government, led by chief minister-designate Suvendu Adhikari, will be sworn in on Saturday beneath the open skies of Brigade Parade Ground, in the presence of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union Home Minister Amit Shah and chief ministers from states ruled by the saffron party.

Source claim Adhikari, accompanied by officers and ministers, may visit the old red landmark in the city's administrative heart on Saturday.

Even as preparations for the function are on, workers are running against time cleaning the Writers' long verandas, weathered corridors and green shuttered windows. The building is under renovation at present and may take time to be ready if the new chief minister decides to shift office.

Party insiders said the decision to move the seat of government back to Writers' was driven also by sentiment — by a desire to reconnect governance with the historic centre from which Bengal had long been ruled. "In order to pay respect to people's sentiment, the BJP government plans to run the state from the Writers' Buildings," a party source remarked. "People were hurt when the secretariat moved out. We want to restore that connection."

After shifting to Nabanna two years into her first term, Banerjee believed the building was auspicious — a fortunate seat from which to govern the state. Over the years, the move became closely associated with the Trinamool era.

'Breaking of a continuity'

For many in the BJP, the departure from Writers' had felt like the breaking of an old continuity. State BJP president Samik Bhattacharya had spoken of the idea repeatedly since 2021.

UP link emerges as another bike found in Barasat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

INVESTIGATORS on Friday recovered the second motorcycle allegedly used in the murder of Chandranath Rath, a close aide of senior BJP leader Suvendu Adhikari, even as the West Bengal Police intensified search for a car suspected to have been used in the crime, a senior officer said.

A seven-member Special Investigation Team (SIT), formed on Thursday with officers from the state CID, Intelligence Branch (IB) and the Bengal STF to probe the murder, left for Uttar Pradesh to "collect technical and field-level evidence" in the case, he said without giving any further details.

The second motorcycle, allegedly used in the crime, was seized near Rail Gate No. 11 in Barasat, around 6 km from the North 24 Parganas district's Madhyamgram, where Adhikari's personal assistant was shot dead on Wednesday night, the officer said.

Investigators had seized another motorcycle from near Gate No. 2.5 of the Kolkata airport area. However, the police found that the registration number plate of that two-wheeler was fake. Efforts are now on to trace a four-wheeler.

Punjab worse than Bengal today: Saini

Taking a swipe at the AAP-led Punjab government, Haryana CM Nayab Singh Saini on Friday said that the situation in the state is "worse than that of West Bengal" as the Mann government has failed to control the drug menace, illegal mining and the collapsing law-and-order situation. Addressing a press conference, Saini said that during Mamata's tenure, atrocities against common people in Bengal had become rampant, and FIRs were not even registered. He said that Punjab is now witnessing similar conditions. On the recent blasts in Punjab, he said that while CM Mann claims to have no knowledge, the DGP has indicated possible links with the ISI.

Mann slams BJP, RSS during 'Shukrana Yatra'

Punjab CM Bhagwant Singh Mann launched an attack on BJP while addressing people during his 'Shukrana Yatra' in Bathinda. He accused the party of dividing people on communal lines in the state. Regarding the recent post-poll violence in West Bengal, Mann said, "There are incidents of arson all across the state. This is how they function; and they want a sedition case against me. What an irony! He questioned the BJP and the RSS over patriotism, alleging that the national flag was not hoisted at the RSS headquarters in Nagpur for 52 years. "Will they now give us certificates of patriotism or anti-nationalism?" he asked.

AAP recruiting sports stars ahead of polls

Ahead of the 2027 assembly polls, Punjab CM Bhagwant Mann recently inducted wrestler-turned-public figure Jaskanwar Singh Patti into the AAP's fold as the party continues to grapple with the recent exit of seven of its MPs. The ruling party has turned to sports stars' power to galvanise support, particularly among the youth. Wrestlers and kabaddi players are inducted as they are rooted in the rural landscape. Pritpal Singh Phagwara also joined AAP, followed by Inderpreet Singh. "Their hard work and discipline will serve as a great inspiration for the youth. Together we will accelerate our campaign to steer youth away from drugs," Mann wrote on X.

COL SOFIYA CASE

SC: Take a call on prosecuting min in 4 weeks

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

"ENOUGH is enough," the Supreme Court on Friday observed, directing the Madhya Pradesh government to decide within four weeks on granting sanction to prosecute its minister Kunwar Vijay Shah for his scurrilous remarks targeting Col Sofiya Qureshi made in the wake of Operation Sindoor against Pakistan.

On January 19, the court had directed the state government to decide within two weeks on granting prosecution sanction, but the state is yet to take the call. A bench comprising Chief Justice Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi said, "You comply with the directions."

During the hearing, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, appearing for the state, said Shah made the unfortunate remarks and later apologised. But the CJI said if it was a slip of the tongue, Shah should have apologised quickly. "Only because the court took cognizance that you did (apologised)," the CJI told his counsel. Shah had shocked the nation by calling Col Qureshi a "sister of terrorists".

Almost 500 custodial deaths in seven years, govt tells J'khand HC

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

IN a major revelation before the Jharkhand High Court, the state government disclosed that nearly 500 custodial deaths have been reported in the state over the past seven years.

According to an affidavit filed by the Principal Secretary of the Department of Home, Prisons and Disaster Management, 437 deaths occurred in judicial custody while nearly 45 deaths took place in police custody since 2018. The figure was revealed during the hearing of the PIL filed by Mumtaz Ansari seeking judicial inquiry into all the deaths that took place in judicial or police custody. After hearing arguments from both sides on Thursday, the court has reserved its order.

Filed by the state government, the affidavit further revealed that judicial inquiries could be conducted in only half of the judicial death cases. It also stated that investigations are still pending in 11 of the 42 police custody death cases. "As per the affidavit filed by the state government, a total of 437 deaths have taken place in judicial custody while nearly 42-45 deaths have taken place in police custody. Interestingly, judicial inquiry has been initiated in only half of the deaths taking place in police and judicial custody, which has been admitted by the state government in its affidavit," said advocate Shadab Ansari, appearing on behalf of the petitioner. After hearing both sides, the court kept its order reserved, he added.

Advocate Ansari, appearing for the petitioner, presented written arguments in support of his case on Thursday. He contended that the nature of deaths occurring in custody can be suspicious; therefore, an impartial and high-level inquiry into these cases is imperative.

References were also made to previous orders of the Supreme Court and the guidelines issued periodically by the National Human Rights Commission (NHRC). The petitioner's primary emphasis was on fixing accountability for any death occurring within a police station or jail, with the aim of curbing such incidents in the future.

No to judicial inquiry

The court observed that since the deaths have taken place several years back, therefore, judicial inquiry in those cases may not be feasible, then the petitioner's advocate pleaded before the court to form guidelines for the investigation of those cases.

NC govt against razing of houses during drive against drugs

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE elected government in Jammu and Kashmir has voiced strong reservations against the demolition of houses and attachment of properties during the ongoing anti-drug campaign, "Nasha Mukht J&K Abhiyan", in the Union Territory, saying action against narcotics should focus on breaking the supply chain rather than targeting people.

L-G Manoj Sinha launched the 100-day anti-drug drive on April 11 to eradicate the growing drug menace in the Union Territory. Since the launch of the campaign, law enforcement agencies have registered more than 400 cases and arrested nearly 400 people under various provisions of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances (NDPS) Act and other laws in the Valley.

According to official sources, 18 to 20 structures allegedly linked to drug peddlers have been bulldozed, while properties worth crores of rupees belonging to alleged drug traffickers have also been attached in different parts of the Valley.

J&K Education and Health Minister Sakina Itoo said, "The government is doing its job. But under the garb of Nasha Mukht Abhiyan, people should not be targeted," Itoo said.

Jaipur pvt hosps call 'med shutdown' over attack on doc

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

PRIVATE hospitals in Jaipur have launched a complete medical shutdown from Thursday midnight, citing allegations of physical assault against the family members of neurosurgeon Dr Sondev Bansal.

The IMA, JMA, UPCHAR, PHNHS, and other prominent medical organisations have announced an indefinite boycott of private healthcare services across Jaipur. Bansal was arrested on charges of irregularities under the RGHS scheme. He was harassed by lawyers within the HC premises, which has also led to accusations of disrupting the court hearing. The medical associations allege that the court hearing could not proceed on Thursday due to the commotion created by lawyers. They also claim that certain lawyers intercepted Dr Bansal's father and brother and allegedly took them into the bar room, subjected them to abusive behaviour, and assaulted them.

Consequently, the hearing of the case was adjourned to May 11. Dr Mahesh Sharma, president of the Rajasthan State IMA, has warned to extend the boycott across the state if immediate steps are not taken to ensure the doctors' safety. According to the Ashok Nagar Police Station, the police have not yet received any written complaint in connection with the incident.

Dr Anurag Tomar, general secretary of the IMA Jaipur Branch, said that in September 2025, an advocate's mother underwent treatment at Nivik Hospital, Jaipur, under the RGHS scheme. She passed away during the course of her treatment.

Following a medical complaint, a medical board constituted to investigate the matter found no evidence of medical negligence in the treatment provided. But amid continuous protests, a criminal case was registered against Dr Bansal, and he was sent to jail.

Mention of caste on vehicles to invite Bihar fine

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE Bihar transport department on Friday directed all vehicle owners to remove caste-related words, phrases, or stickers from their vehicles within one month. Failure to comply with the directive will invite fines up to ₹2,000 under the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988.

The department has set June first week as the deadline for vehicle owners to voluntarily remove such inscriptions. Once this period expires, traffic police will launch a state-wide enforcement campaign with intensive vehicle checks.

"Violators face fines of ₹500 under section 177 and up to ₹2000 under section 179 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988," the order said. It is a widespread practice across India to display caste-related text or stickers on vehicles, and Bihar's move is part of a broader effort to discourage such displays on public roads. In 2023, thee Uttar Pradesh government launched a drive to stop the use of caste-based stickers on vehicles. District transport officers (DTOs) across Bihar have been directed to implement the order.

"The state transport commissioner has asked all DTOs to ensure compliance within their respective jurisdiction," an official said. "Vehicle owners have been directed to comply with the order without delay," he added.

Bihar has also started a sweeping upgrade to its traffic infrastructure. The state is set to deploy an Intelligent Traffic Management System across 500 to 700 key intersections and accident-prone corridors.

VOTE FOR BJP, WILL FIND BRIDES: HARYANA MLA

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

BRIDES for votes" — the flippant, even absurd, phrase captures the unsettling intersection of electoral politics and a demographic crisis decades in the making in Haryana.

At a rally in Rewari on Thursday, BJP MLA Bimla Chaudhary from Pataudi promised unmarried men that if the BJP won the municipal elections, she would help arrange their marriages — a remark that drew laughter from the crowd but also renewed attention on the state's long history of gender imbalance and the increasingly normalised language surrounding it.

Addressing a gathering in support of BJP municipal council candidate Vinita Pippal, Chaudhary said: "My mothers and sisters, vote to make Vinita win and let me make one more promise from this stage today — the responsibility of getting young bachelors sitting around married, that too is mine. Just give us your blessings."

The comment quickly became the defining moment of the rally. Haryana Health Minister Arti Rao — daughter of Union Minister and Gurugram MP Rao Inderjit Singh — was sharing the stage with Chaudhary and joined in the moment, joking that the MLA had effectively opened a "marriage bureau" in Rewari and would surely keep her word. It highlighted what decades of female foeticide had done to the state.

Healthcare boost at 12,000 feet as 50-bed hospital opens at Kedarnath

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

Designed to withstand the harsh Himalayan climate, the hospital addresses the critical need for emergency care in a region where altitude-related illnesses are common

Pushkar Singh Dhami, CM

UTTARAKHAND Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami on Friday inaugurated a 50-bed charitable hospital at Kedarnath, strengthening medical infrastructure along the arduous Char Dham route.

Located at an altitude of 12,000 feet, the hospital, to be operated by Swami Vivekananda Health Mission Society (SVHMS), aims to provide critical, cost-free medical intervention to pilgrims and local residents in one of India's most challenging terrains.

"Designed to withstand the harsh Himalayan climate, the hospital addresses the critical need for emergency care in a region where altitude-related illnesses are common," Dhami said after the inauguration.

The medical unit is equipped with pulmonary and cardiac emergency care, trauma services, orthopaedics, and a fully functional critical care unit (ICU). Additionally, the facility maintains an oxygen bank, portable ventilators, and a 24/7 ambulance service to stabilise patients in life-threatening situations. "These facilities are essential to ensure the safety and well-being of lakhs of devotees who join the spiritually significant Char Dham yatra every year," Dhami said.

RSS joint general secretary Dr Krishna Gopal emphasised the broader impact of the project. "Establishing such a healthcare facility at Kedarnath is a significant step towards ensuring that pilgrims and local residents receive timely medical care, even in the most difficult conditions," he said.

SVHMS vice president Shyam Bagri said the new facility represents a significant step in the organisation's mandate to bridge the healthcare gap.

OMCs see ₹30k cr under-recovery a month amid geopolitical crisis

Daily under-recoveries during April estimated at ₹18 a litre on petrol and ₹25 a litre on diesel

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

STATE-owned oil marketing companies (OMCs) are facing estimated under-recoveries of nearly Rs. 30,000 crore every month due to the ongoing crisis in West Asia, which has disrupted vessel movement through the Strait of Hormuz.

As per Sujata Sharma, Joint Secretary in the Petroleum Ministry, oil companies such as Indian Oil, Bharat Petroleum and Hindustan Petroleum are continuing to incur heavy losses on the sale of petrol, diesel and LPG. This is despite the government cutting excise duty by ₹10 per litre on petrol and diesel in late March to cushion the impact of high international crude prices on OMCs. The excise duty reduction has resulted in the government foregoing revenue of nearly ₹14,000 crore a month.

The under-recovery estimates also exclude losses on aviation turbine fuel (ATF) prices, which have surged significantly since the conflict involving Iran, Israel and the US escalated. The government has put a cap of 25% on the monthly hike of ATF prices by OMCs.

"Our oil marketing companies are also facing losses, but the government has tried to ensure that there is no increase in consumer prices, and therefore excise duty has also been reduced. The reduction in excise duty has an impact of nearly ₹14,000 crore per month," said Sharma.

India, which imports nearly 88% of its crude oil requirement, remains heavily dependent on the Strait of Hormuz for energy supplies. Before the conflict, 90% of LPG imports from West Asia and nearly 50% of its natural gas imports were sourced through this region.

The disruption in cargo movement has reduced the supply of crude oil, LNG and LPG to India, leading to a sharp increase in global energy prices. As per Sharma, crude oil prices, which were around $70 per barrel two months ago, have now risen to nearly $120 per barrel. Similarly, LPG prices, based on the Saudi Contract Price (CP) benchmark, have climbed to around $780 per tonne.

Retail fuel prices in India, however, have remained unchanged since February 28 despite the steep rise in global crude prices.

Daily under-recoveries during April were estimated at around ₹18 per litre on petrol and Rs 25 per litre on diesel, translating into average losses of ₹600-700 crore per day for OMCs. However, it has increased the domestic LPG prices by ₹60 and that of commercial LPG by over ₹1,000 per cylinder.

Govt loses ₹14,000 cr per month on duty cut

The excise duty reduction in March has resulted in the government foregoing revenue of ₹14,000 crore per month. The under-recovery estimates also exclude losses on Aviation Turbine Fuel (ATF), prices of which have surged significantly since the conflict involving Iran, Israel and the US escalated.

Sir Ratan Tata Trust cancels board meeting amid governance concerns

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

THE board meeting of the Sir Ratan Tata Trust (SRTT) was called off at the last minute on Friday amid mounting internal differences and legal scrutiny, despite the dismissal of a plea seeking to halt it

The SRTT board meeting, scheduled to discuss nominations to the Tata Sons board and consider the reappointment of N Chandrasekaran for a third term as chairman of the conglomerate, was cancelled without any specific reason being cited, a source told TNIE. The source added that the meeting may now be held next Friday, though no official communication has yet been issued by the CEO's office.

The abrupt cancellation came even as the Bombay High Court on Thursday declined to entertain a petition seeking a stay on the meeting over alleged violations relating to lifetime trustee limits and internal rules governing the trust.

The petition, filed on Wednesday by Suresh Tulsiram Patilkhede from Thane, challenged the validity of the proposed board meeting and alleged violations of the Maharashtra Public Trusts Act by the Tata Trusts. The legal challenge comes amid broader governance concerns being raised by some trustees and outsiders across the group trusts over trustee appointments, board procedures and compliance with trust deeds. Governance-related tensions have intensified in recent months after objections were raised over reappointment procedures and validity of resolutions passed by some of the smaller trusts.

Friday's cancellation follows an earlier SRTT meeting in January that was also called off due to lack of quorum, underlining internal tensions.

No layoffs, Air India defers increment on mounting losses

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

AIR INDIA has assured its employees that there would be no layoffs despite mounting losses and ongoing external headwinds such as higher jet fuel prices and airspace closures.

In a town hall held on Friday, the top level management, led by MD & CEO Campbell Wilson, indicated that annual increments will be deferred by at least one quarter in light of the uncertain economic environment.

As per sources, Wilson asked the employees to suspend discretionary spending and defer non-critical expenditures to cut down on costs. He also spoke out about external headwinds impacting the airline industry, including Air India.

We need to focus on our costs in these tough times...There must be a laser-sharp focus on eliminating wastage and leakages

Campbell Wilson

"We need to focus on our costs in these tough times...There must be a laser-sharp focus on eliminating wastage and leakages," Wilson told employees. He asked them to suspend discretionary spending, renegotiate rates where feasible and defer non-critical expenditures.

The town hall was also attended by Air India Chief Financial Officer Sanjay Sharma and Chief Human Resources Officer Ravindra Kumar GP.

Kumar said Air India will proceed with variable pay for the last financial year and continue with planned promotions while annual increments will be deferred by at least one quarter in light of the uncertain economic environment. "We don't anticipate layoffs," he said. Air India employee count stands at about 24,000.

Sources said Wilson highlighted several global and regional challenges affecting the industry, including closure of Pakistan airspace since May last year, geopolitical tensions across West Asia, depreciation of rupee and a steep rise in aviation turbine fuel (ATF) prices.

ATF prices had more than doubled to $180-190/barrel since the war broke out in West Asia. The government in April limited the hike to ₹15 per litre for domestic operations.

Labour codes: Govt notifies rules for wages, social security

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

THE Centre on Friday operationalised key provisions under two major labour reforms — the Code on Wages, 2019 and the Code on Social Security, 2020 — in a move aimed at expanding formal social protection while standardising wage-related regulations, including for gig and platform workers.

The government notified the Code on Wages (Central) Rules, 2026 on Friday, bringing together provisions relating to minimum wages, payment of wages, bonus and remuneration.

The wage rules prescribe an eight-hour normal working day and cap weekly working hours at 48 hours. Minimum wages will be calculated on a daily basis, while hourly wages will be derived by dividing the daily wage by eight and monthly wages by multiplying the daily wage by 26. The Centre has mandated revision of variable dearness allowance (VDA) twice a year — before April 1 and October 1 — based on consumer price index data published by the Labour Bureau.

The rules mandate that employers engaging workers via contractors will be responsible for payment of wages and bonus in case contractors default.

The social security codeis likely to pave way for creation of welfare schemes for gig and platform workers, including provisions related to life and disability cover, accident insurance, health and maternity benefits and old-age protection.

Food delivery workers, ride-hailing drivers and e-commerce logistics workers are among those likely to come under the ambit of the framework. The code provides for creation of social security funds that may be financed through contributions from aggregators, governments and other prescribed sources.

US court strikes down Trump's 10% global tariffs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE US Court of International Trade struck down the Trump administration's 10% global tariffs after declaring the reciprocal tariff illegal. The court ruling stated that the measures exceeded powers granted by Congress under Section 122 of the Trade Act of 1974.

In a 2-1 decision delivered on May 7, the court held that the tariffs were invalid and unauthorised by law. It stated that Section 122 was designed only to address balance-of-payments crisis rather than serve as a tool for reducing trade deficits via sweeping tariff actions.

The Trump administration initially introduced reciprocal tariffs on several countries, with rates as high as 50% for some, including India. After the Supreme Court struck down the tariff in February, the administarion introduced 10% across the-board tariffs on February 20. Judges said the legal basis for invoking Section 122 was weak as the US has operated under a free-floating dollar system since 1973, reducing the relevance of balance-of-payments concerns envisioned under the statute.

A president can only use Section 122 to impose tariffs up to 15% across all imports without congressional approval under certain criteria. The court noted that the administration's argument for the tariffs is insufficient. The decision applies only to the parties that filed the case—the state of Washington, spice importer Burlap & Barrel, and toy maker Basic Fun! The tariffs will continue for other importers while the US government appeals the ruling. The court chose not to block the tariffs nationwide yet. As the court stuck down both tariff regimes, the US tariff structure will be reverting closer to pre-Trump most-favoured-nation (MFN) rates for affected parties.

"The uncertainty around US tariff policy, with Trump-era tariffs repeatedly struck down by courts, makes any long-term trade commitments by India difficult to justify. At present, the US is also not prepared to reduce its standard MFN tariffs, while expecting India to lower or eliminate it MFN duties across most sectors," stated think tank GTRI.

FinMin overhauls rules for govt land transfer, drops 'no profit no loss' norm

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

THE Union government has dropped the 'no profit no loss' principle that long governed land transfers between central government departments and Union Territories, replacing it with a structured pricing framework that accounts for market and guideline values.

The change comes through an amendment to the General Financial Rules, 2017, notified by the Department of Expenditure on May 5. The existing Rule 310, which stipulated that inter-departmental and Union Territory-to-department land transfers be conducted on a 'no profit no loss' basis, has been replaced. In its place, a new Appendix 7A lays down a tiered pricing matrix depending on the nature of the transfer and the parties involved.

Under the old rule, 'no profit no loss' did not mean zero cost — transfers could be on mutually agreeable terms or in exchange for equivalent land — but the principle held that no party should profit from the transaction. The amended rules make no such stipulation. Transfers between central government departments will now be priced either via book transfer at nominal rental value, or through budget allocation at guideline value. Transfers to CPSEs and state governments carry their own pricing logic, tied to whether the purpose is public or commercial.

The shift reflects a broader policy direction toward treating government land as a productive asset with measurable monetary value, rather than a resource to be exchanged at cost. The amendment assigns valuation responsibility to the National Land Monetisation Corporation (NLMC), which will determine guideline and market values for each transaction.

For transfers between central government departments or to state governments for public purposes, pricing will be based on the Guideline Value or Guideline Rental Value. The Guideline Value is defined as the minimum value notified by the government for a land parcel, encompassing terms like 'Circle Rate' or 'Ready Reckoner Rate' used by various State governments.

THAILAND

INFLATION CLIMBS TO 38-MONTH HIGH

Thailand's inflation is rising as a result of the impact of the Middle East war, which began on February 28, pushing crude oil and petrochemical prices to high levels. The Trade Policy and Strategy Office (TPSO) under the Ministry of Commerce reported that Thailand's headline Consumer Price Index (CPI), or inflation, for April 2026 stood at 103.03. Compared with the same period in 2025, headline inflation rose 2.89%, the highest increase in 38 months since February 2023, when it rose 3.79%. The food and non-alcoholic beverages category rose 0.98%, due to higher prices of key items including ready-to-eat food, fresh vegetables, chicken eggs, white rice, fresh chicken, non-alcoholic drinks, fish and aquatic products. Core inflation, headline inflation excluding fresh food and energy, rose 0.83%. The average for the first four months (January-April) of 2026 increased 0.32%.

JAPAN

REAL WAGES RISE 1.0%, UP FOR 3RD STRAIGHT MONTH

Japan's real wages in March rose 1% from a year earlier for the third straight monthly increase, reflecting firms' robust profits and their efforts to offer competitive salaries to retain talent, despite slowing from the previous month, government data showed on Friday. Nominal wages, or the average monthly cash earnings per worker including base and overtime pay, were up 2.7% at 317,254 yen ($2,000), increasing for the 51st consecutive month, the Ministry of Health, Labor and Welfare said. Of the total, scheduled payments including base pay and family allowances rose 3.2% to 271,313 yen, a rise of 3% or more for three consecutive months for the first time in 33 years and five months. The index used in the data showed consumer prices rising 1.6 percent, moving below 2% for the third consecutive month, helped by government subsidies for utility and gas bills.

MALAYSIA

HOLDS KEY RATE, WARNING OF MIDDLE EAST RISKS

Malaysia held its benchmark interest rate steady for a fifth straight meeting, despite heightened risks to growth from the prolonged conflict in the Middle East. Bank Negara Malaysia held the overnight policy rate at 2.75% on Thursday. It described the rate as "appropriate and consistent with the outlook of continued price stability and sustainable economic growth." BNM has adjusted borrowing costs just once in the past two years, with a quarter-point cut in July 2025. "Uncertainties surrounding the duration and severity of the Middle East conflict will affect the outlook of domestic growth and inflation," the central bank said in a statement. "Nevertheless, Malaysia's strong fundamentals will continue to underpin the economy's resilience." Economic growth eased to 5.3% in the first quarter as fallout from the war on Iran began to weigh on major industries. Elevated oil prices have also raised the government's fuel subsidy spendings.

Treasury loss caps SBI profit at 5.6%

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

THE country's largest lender, State Bank of India (SBI), took a significant hit on its treasury book due to a spike in bond yields in March, causing it to miss Street estimates on key financial metrics.

The bank on Friday reported a 5.6% YoY rise in standalone net profit at ₹19,684 crore for the March quarter, lower than analysts' estimate of ₹20,312 crore. For the full year, SBI posted its highest-ever standalone net profit of ₹80,032 crore, up 13%.

The management, led by chairman CS Setty, attributed the fall in treasury income to the surge in bond yields in March following market volatility triggered by the Iran war. Treasury income plunged to ₹1,259 crore from ₹8,991 crore a year earlier.

Setty clarified that the impact from squaring off a $5-billion net open forex position following a Reserve Bank directive was negligible, resulting in only about ₹100 crore of notional losses, of which ₹57 crore was booked during the reporting quarter.

The sharp decline in treasury income also dragged down other income by 29% to ₹17,314 crore from ₹24,367 crore a year ago. SBI's bond holdings under the mandatory SLR portfolio exceed ₹17 lakh crore, about ₹3 lakh crore higher than the stipulated 18% requirement.

The weaker-than-expected quarterly performance led SBI shares to plunge 7.42% intraday on Friday before closing 6.4% lower.

Setty said the bank's total income declined to ₹1,40,412 crore from ₹1,43,876 crore a year ago, while net interest income rose 4.1% to ₹44,380 crore. Interest income increased to ₹1,23,098 crore from ₹1,19,666 crore.

Q4 RESULTS FY2026

Hyundai sets 8-10% volume growth target for this fiscal

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HYUNDAI Motor India (HMIL) has set a target to achieve 8-10% volume growth in the domestic market this fiscal (FY27) on the back of new product launches and network expansion. The Korean auto major will launch two new nameplates this fiscal year, which include one localised dedicated electric vehicle in the compact SUV space and one internal combustion engine SUV in the crowded mid-size segment.

To support the growth and expansion, HMIL announced capital expenditure of ₹7,500 crore in FY27. Hyundai on Friday reported 22.22% decline in its consolidated net profit at ₹1,255.6 crore for Q4FY26 as compared to ₹1,614.3 crore profit in the same period last fiscal. The company attributed the decline in PAT primarily to higher commodities prices.

BoB net profit rises 11.2% to ₹5,616 cr, NII increases 9%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

STATE-run Bank of Baroda on Friday reported a 11.2% increase in March quarter profit to ₹5,616 crore.

The net profit was at ₹5,048 crore in the year-ago period. Core net interest income increased nearly 9% to ₹12,494 crore during the quarter on the back of a 16% advances growth and a compression in the net interest margin to 2.89% from 2.9% YoY. The bank's MD and CEO Debadatta Chand said it is encouraged by the FY26 performance to up its loan growth guidance to 12-14% as against 11-13% at present. He said the bank is expecting the ongoing Middle East conflict to not continue for a long period of time and growth to come back. Chand said there is also a shift of funds back to the banking system, which is leading to a surge in deposits.

Player movements, guard against 'honey-trap': BCCI's new IPL advisory

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN/ FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

FOLLOWING an IPL governing council meeting on Thursday, the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) secretary Devajit Saikia sent a seven-page advisory to all 10 franchises. The advisory, in possession of this daily, is a fresh set of additional do's and dont's the 10 teams have to abide in light of a number of discrepancies. Here's an explainer on what the new advisory states...

● Why did the BCCI feel the need to issue this mid tournament?

Behind the scenes, the board had seemingly noticed a number of alarming issues. To nip these in the bud, in the preamble of the document itself, the board says 'it has come to the attention of the BCCI that certain incidents of misconduct and protocol violations have occurred involving players, support staff and team officials during the course of the current IPL season. "These incidents, if left unaddressed, carry the potential to cause significant reputational harm..."

XPLAINER

● Any things that jump out from the document?

Take your pick. There are mentions of 'honey-trapping' the cricketers or officials. Or of players leaving the team hotel at 'irregular hours'. Or presenting accreditation cards. They are now making players wear their ID cards within 'event premises' including team hotels. There is now going to be a ban on team owners having accessibility to the players during a match. There's also going to be an official 'prohibition on vaping'.

● Wait? What? Honey-trapping?

The BCCI do not want to make any chances so they have issued something encompassing this as well. It states: "The BCCI draws the attention of all Franchises to the well-documented risks of targeted compromise and honey-trapping that pervade high-profile sporting environments. The possibility of incidents giving rise to serious legal allegations, including those under applicable laws on sexual misconduct, cannot be discounted."

While the document is silent on partners and family, there is a clause which says all movement will be monitored under a 'guest approval system'. "Implement and maintain a guest approval system for all hotel visits, with written records of every approved guest maintained on a daily basis."

● Are the players free to travel with their wives or partners?

They are but it looks like there has to be prior approval for this as well. "Any planned movement outside the hotel, for personal, recreational, or any other purposes, must be communicated to the Team manager and the Security Liaison Officer in advance of the intended departure."

Another clause states that 'no person, irrespective of their identity, relationship to the team member, or stated purpose, shall be permitted entry into a player's or support staff member's hotel room without the prior knowledge and explicit written approval of the Team Manager." Prima facie this may apply to players' wives or partners.

It essentially means they themselves will have to take prior permission before seeing their own spouses.

● What about vaping?

Ever since Riyan Parag was caught vaping inside the Royals' dressing room while a game was on, it has made the BCCI very uncomfortable. The board, in the advisory, has claimed that there have been 'instances' — plural — of 'vaping inside the dressing room and other restricted areas of tournament venues have been brought to the BCCI's attention. "It is pertinent to note that the use of vapes and electronic cigarettes is prohibited under applicable Indian law."

● What are the consequences of non-compliance

Show-cause notice, financial penalties and, ultimately, suspension or disqualification depending on the offence. Suspension could stretch to subsequent IPL seasons as well.

VINESH-WFI STANDOFF MARS BIG RETURN

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

DAYS before she returns to competitive wrestling more than a year after the big setback at the 2024 Paris Olympics, the off-the-mat tussle between wrestler Vinesh Phogat and Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) has intensified further.

Ever since the two-time World Championships bronze medallist announced her decision to compete at the National Ranking Series in Gonda, Uttar Pradesh, things have heated up. Vinesh took to the social media to remind the world that she was one of the sexual harassment victims of former WFI president Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh and that she feared manipulation during the event. On the other hand, the WFI has raised issues regarding whereabouts violations and even questioned her eligibility as per the World Anti-Doping Agency regulations.

Earlier, the 31-year-old wrestler from Haryana even posted on social media that she could not complete her online registration for the tournament but later clarified that the process eventually got completed. She also raised eyebrows over the venue chosen for the ranking series, which is considered a stronghold of former WFI president and BJP leader Singh. The ongoing tussle could take a new twist with the WFI mulling to serve a show-cause notice to Vinesh. Insiders claimed that the federation might ask her to explain the rationale behind her decision to compete in two weight categories (50kg and 53kg) during the selection trials held to pick the national team for the Asian Olympic Games Qualifier in March 2024. She could also be questioned for returning overweight ahead of the 50kg final bout at the Paris Games, which deprived the country of an Olympic medal. Besides, the show-cause notice could also ask her about her eligibility for the Gonda event as per the WADA's mandatory six-month notice rule for athletes coming out of retirement. This could further complicate the delicate matter.

"The WFI is taking a legal opinion on the issue before serving a show-cause notice to Vinesh," an insider told this daily. "She immediately retired after the Paris Games giving the federation no chance to ask her a few pertinent questions like under which rule she competed in two weight categories during the selection trials in March 2024 and how she failed to make the weight ahead of the 50kg final at the Games. There are other questions as well like her eligibility for the Gonda event," added the insider.

It should be noted that the WFI last year banned two wrestlers including Paris Olympic bronze medallist Aman Sehrawat for failing the weight test during separate international events.

The Delhi team seems to be losing steam at a time when play-off race is heating up

GOMESH S @ Chennai

WHEN Delhi Capitals beat Rajasthan Royals on their home ground in Jaipur, they would have believed that the campaign was finally back on track. That it would not go down the same road as 2025.

For context, last season DC won six of their first eight games, rose to top before losing momentum, crumbling in the second half of the season. Four consecutive losses and a no result followed, leaving DC with 13 points after 13 games compared to the 12 they had after eight. They won the final game, but it had no effect on the table, leaving DC out of the top four.

This year, after the win against RR, they had eight points and needed another four wins in six to comfortably qualify. Even that seemed like a task after they lost four of their first seven games despite starting the season with two consecutive wins. However, they still had hope. They had put up a brave front, believing that it would not be a repeat of 2025 despite the close finishes. For a team filled with match-winners and all-round specialists on paper, DC's bizarre turn of events has been difficult to crack. And the trend continued once again when they lost to CSK at home immediately after the win against RR. So, when they took the field against Kolkata Knight Riders on Friday, they had to pull up their socks and deliver. They needed a win against a team one loss away from getting knocked out. DC, in a typical fashion, failed to do that. They started well thanks to Pathum Nissanka's 50 but that was the lone high point. From 74/2 in 8 overs, they slumped to 89/5 in 10.5 before eventually scrapping their way to 142/8. The last 11 overs of the innings saw DC score 65 runs and lose six wickets. By then, the contest was all but gone and the rest was only a formality.

If one were to zoom out a little to see what went wrong for DC and why they have not been able to sustain momentum and be consistent, there are a few reasons to point out. The entry points of Tristan Stubbs and David Miller have been an issue. While Sameer Rizvi delivered early on, he has not been able to continue the same. Axar Patel's batting form has been nothing short of abysmal and it showed on Friday. While he is usually promoted after an early collapse, Axar was kept at No 6, exposing Stubbs early. The usage or there lack of when it comes to Ashutosh Sharma and Vipraj Nigam too is one to be looked at. Then comes the bowling form of Kuldeep Yadav and Axar. With pacers dominating, these two have not been as effective and it showed. Mitchell Starc was missed in the first half of the season but he alone could make little difference.

On Thursday, it was the case with KKR cruising to an eight-wicket win. Through the season Axar has reiterated that they have to put on a smile and turn up no matter the result. But with the business end closing in, Axar needs results and not just smiles. Brief scores: DC 142/8 in 20 ovs (Nissanka 50; Kartik 2/25) lost to KKR 147/2 in 14.2 ovs (Allen 100 n.o, Green 33 n.o).

CONFIDENT GT FACE RR

Rajasthan hope for some consistency to cement themselves in the top four while Gujarat know a win will see them leapfrog their opponents. A look...

Sooryavanshi vs pacers

GT's pace unit can rattle teams with their pace, angle and trickery. Vaibhav Sooryavanshi, who has been hitting most frontline bowlers with disdain, will look to do the same against the likes of Kagiso Rabada & Mohammed Siraj. Saturday night could be an appointment viewing for this alone.

GT's top three vs Archer

Royals rely a lot on their new-ball bowlers taking early wickets. Titans' entire batting MO is their top-three accumulating enough runs in the first 10 before exploding. Something has to give.

Real to punish Valverde and Tchouameni

AGENCIES @ Madrid

REAL Madrid said they would punish midfielders Federico Valverde and Aurelien Tchouameni after a clash on Thursday at the club's training ground which left the former needing hospital treatment.

"Following the incidents that occurred this morning during the first team's training session, (the club) has decided to open disciplinary proceedings against our players Federico Valverde and Aurelien Tchouameni," said Los Blancos in a statement. Uruguay international Valverde was accompanied to the hospital facility near the club's Valdebebas training complex by Madrid coach Alvaro Arbeloa, according to Spanish reports, which said the player needed stitches to treat a facial wound.

Madrid said Valverde had suffered a head injury but was in "good condition" and needed to rest for up to a fortnight. The 27-year-old will miss Sunday's Clasico clash with rivals Barcelona in La Liga, when the Catalans can claim the Spanish title. Valverde sought to downplay the severity of the altercation with Tchouameni.

India Women's U17 beat Lebanon, enter Asian Cup knockouts

ENS @ Chennai

THE Indian women's U17 football team head coach, Pamela Conti, may have finally seen her girls play in line with her philosophy as they trounced Lebanon 4-0 to qualify to the knockouts of the AFC Women's U17 Asian Cup in Suzhou on Friday. After the final whistle, the Indian dugout was visibly ecstatic. The players on the pitch were emotional as they knew they had created history.

With that win, India entered the knockout stage of any Asian Cup tournament for the first time since the men's U16 team entered in 2018. In women's football, India have entered the knockouts of an Asian meet for the first time since the U19 AFC women's championship in 2004.

With Conti, her description of her footballing ideas is simple. Defend the Italian way and attack the Spanish way. And in a must-win game, the Young Tigresses played just like the Italian coach wanted. After losing games to Australia (0-2) and 2024 runners-up Japan (0-3), India knew that they had to go all-out against Lebanon. Lebanon, meanwhile, were coming into this tie with confidence after holding Australia to a 1-1 draw.

India exerted pressure on their opponents on the get go, as the ball was launched deep into the opposition territory. Then followed a throw-in for Lebanon beside the corner flag. From thereon, it was clear that the Indian team wanted to stay there and cause as many problems as it could. And the breakthrough came, seven minutes into the game. Pritika Barman latched on to a long ball from Divyani Linda from deep, forayed into the penalty area before deceiving the Lebanon defender. Then, Barman, with the goal at sight, slotted it past the keeper to give the all-important lead.

Result: India 4 (Pritika 7, 85', Alva Devi 36', Joya 72') bt Lebanon 0.

Aston Villa demolish Forest to reach Europa League final

AGENCIES @ Birmingham

ASTON Villa reached their first European final for 44 years in memorable style with a 4-0 demolition of Nottingham Forest in the Europa League semi-finals on Thursday.

Unai Emery's side erased a 1-0 first leg deficit thanks to Ollie Watkins' opener just before half-time and Emiliano Buendia's nerveless penalty after the interval. Fittingly, it was a late double from skipper and fan favourite John McGinn that finished off Forest to cap Villa's second leg masterclass.

They advanced 4-1 on aggregate from the all-English showdown, setting up a final clash against German club Freiburg in Istanbul on May 20.

Freiburg beat Braga 4-3 on aggregate to make their first ever European showpiece.

Leading the celebrations at Villa Park was noted fan Prince William, who sat among the jubilant claret and blue hordes in the stands. Given the royal seal of approval by William, Villa will head to Turkey in search of their first Major trophy since the 1996 League Cup. They are bidding to win the club's first major continental prize since Peter Withe clinched their iconic 1982 European Cup final triumph against Bayern Munich.

In their first final since losing to Manchester City in the 2020 League Cup, Villa will be firm favourites against unheralded Freiburg, who are seventh in the Bundesliga.

It is Emery's sixth Europa League final after winning the competition three times with Sevilla and once with Villarreal, as well as finishing as a runner-up with Arsenal.

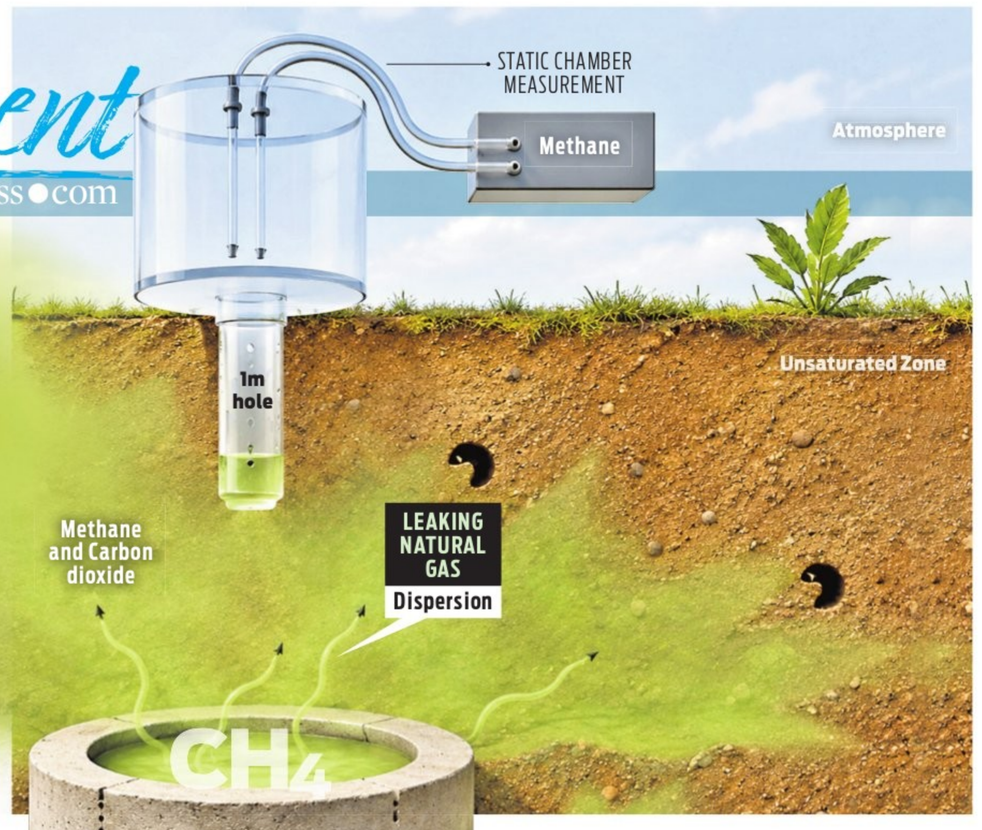
CUTTING METHANE COULD UNLOCK 200 BCM GAS, BOLSTER ENERGY SECURITY: IEA



S V KRISHNA CHAITANYA
@ Chennai

METHANE emissions from the global energy sector remained stubbornly high in 2025, even as governments and companies expanded commitments to curb the potent greenhouse gas. But a new analysis by the International Energy Agency (IEA) suggests that tackling methane leaks could unlock massive volumes of natural gas, offering a crucial buffer to energy markets disrupted by geopolitical tensions.

According to the Global Methane Tracker 2026, methane emissions from fossil fuel operations stood at about 124 million tonnes (Mt) annually, with no clear signs of decline despite rising climate pledges. Oil operations accounted for 45 Mt, coal for 43 Mt, and natural gas for 36 Mt, highlighting the scale of emissions across the energy system. At the same time, the report points to a striking opportunity, which is up to 200 billion cubic metres (bcm) of natural gas could be made available each year by reducing methane leaks and eliminating routine flaring. This is particularly significant as global gas markets face supply shocks following disruptions in the Middle East, including threats to shipping through the Strait of Hormuz.

"In recent years, countries and companies have raised their ambitions on methane... However, setting reduction targets is only a first step," said Tim Gould, Chief Energy Economist at the IEA. "There are also major energy security benefits that can come from tackling methane and flaring, especially at a time when the world is urgently looking for additional supply."

Crisis exposes 'wasted gas' potential

The IEA estimates that nearly 100 bcm of gas could be recovered annually by cutting methane emissions from oil and gas operations, with another 100 bcm unlocked by ending non-emergency flaring. Together, this is roughly double the gas volumes disrupted by recent geopolitical tensions.

In the short term, about 15 bcm could be quickly brought to market if countries with spare export capacity adopt readily available abatement measures. This reframes methane mitigation not just as a climate priority, but as an energy security imperative particularly for import-dependent economies such as India.

Implementation gap persists

Despite growing global commitments, including the Global Methane Pledge now covering over half of oil and gas production, emissions have plateaued near record highs. The report attributes this to a significant 'implementation gap,' where policies and enforcement lag behind stated targets. Data also shows that around 70 per cent of fossil fuel methane emissions originate from just 10 countries, including China, the United States, Russia, Iran, and India.

Methane intensity varies dramatically between producers, with the best-performing countries achieving emissions levels more than 100 times lower than the worst. A key finding of the report is that methane mitigation is both technologically feasible and economically viable. Around 70 per cent of fossil fuel methane emissions, nearly 85 Mt, can be abated using existing technologies, while over 35 Mt can be reduced at no net cost. This is because captured methane can be sold, offsetting the cost of abatement. With elevated gas prices in 2026, the economic case has strengthened further.

The largest gains lie in upstream operations such as extraction and processing, which account for about 80 per cent of oil and gas methane emissions. Proven solutions include leak detection and repair (LDAR), equipment upgrades, and vapour recovery systems.

India's coal challenge

For India, the report carries particular significance given its heavy reliance on coal. While global focus has largely been on oil and gas methane, analysts say coal mine emissions remain under-addressed.

"Methane emissions from coal mining have not received enough attention from global climate organisations," said Rajasekhar Modadugu, Climate and Energy Analyst for India at Ember. "Major coal mining countries, including India, should focus on... capturing, utilising or eliminating these emissions." India is among the top methane emitters globally, though its emissions intensity from coal is lower than the global average. However, the scale of coal production means total emissions remain significant. Experts argue that addressing coal mine methane, through capture technologies or flaring, could deliver quick climate gains while improving mine safety and generating additional energy.

Data, satellites and accountability

The report also points to rapid advances in monitoring technologies, particularly satellite-based detection systems. Dozens of satellites now track methane emissions globally, identifying "super-emitter" events in near real time.

El Niño shadow over south-west monsoon, positive IOD only hope

SOUTHWEST monsoon is the lifeline of Indian population as it impacts their life and livelihood. Being an agrarian nation, India's economy hinges on the southwest monsoon rainfall during the period June to September. Rapid urbanization and shrinking freshwater bodies and vegetation cover, the looming global warming is threatening the availability of water for the sustenance of life itself in our planet. The situation is grimmer in tropical region including India which is facing the brunt of heat waves not only on land but also in the ocean, the marine heat waves. The year 2024 was the hottest year on record as per NASA, Copernicus, and the World Meteorological Organization. The year 2026 is expected to finish as the second warmest year, though there is still a possibility it could challenge 2024, if a strong El Niño intensifies later this year into a super El Niño.

El Niño is a condition in the Pacific Ocean when the upper ocean waters of the central and eastern (Peru region) tropical Pacific Ocean become warmer than normal and western Pacific Ocean is cooler than normal (La Nina is the opposite condition when the western Pacific Ocean is warmer than normal and eastern tropical Pacific Ocean is cooler than normal). Though this warming occurs in the central and eastern Pacific, its impact is felt globally as it modifies the 'Walker circulation,' which is the flow of wind across the global tropics connecting ocean to atmosphere.

Indian summer monsoon and El Niño

Indian summer monsoon or southwest monsoonrainfall is highly influenced by the process of El Niño. El Niño usually weakens the Indian summer monsoon, which reduces the moisture transport toward the Indian subcontinent and results into below normal rainfall. Historically, many El Niño years have coincided with deficient monsoons in India, for e.g., 1972, 1982, 1987, 2002, 2009, 2015.

Dr S PRASANNAKUMAR
Former director of National Institute of Oceanography

The current expectation for India's southwest monsoon is 'below-normal rainfall' because climate models indicate the likely development of El Niño conditions in the Pacific Ocean during monsoon season.

The official forecast from the Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) forecasts June-September 2026 rainfall to be 92 per cent of the long period average with a model error margin of ±5%. This is based on IMD's Monsoon Mission Climate Forecast System. IMD's Monsoon Mission Climate Forecast System suggests ENSO-neutral conditions may transition into El Niño during the monsoon season, especially from mid to late-monsoon. Under this situation below-normal rainfall is expected in many parts of central and northern India, but areas of south peninsular India, northeast India, and parts of northwest India may still receive near-normal or above-normal rainfall

According to NOAA's Climate Program Office, the equatorial Pacific is presently in an ENSO-neutral state but rapidly transitioning toward El Niño. There is a 62 per cent chance that during June-August 2026, El Niño is likely to emerge and persist through the end of 2026. If that happens, then India will experience a deficit of monsoon rain fall.

IOD as an offset factor

Is there anything that can help counteract/reduce or nullify the rainfall deficit due to emerging El Niño condition? Yes, it is possible to reduce or nullify the rainfall deficit expected due to the El Niño effect. The possible moderator is a positive Indian Ocean Dipole (IOD), a condition of the Indian Ocean when the eastern part of the tropical Indian Ocean will be colder than normal and western part of the tropical Indian Ocean will be warmer than normal. This is not a normal condition of Indian Ocean. In normal Indian Ocean western part (African continent) is colder than the eastern part (near Java-Sumatra regions).

Climate model also predicts that a positive IOD is expected to develop later in the monsoon season, which could partly offset the El Niño's suppressing effect on rainfall.

The emerging El Niño conditions co-occurring with southwest monsoon season of 2006, it is expected that the Indian monsoon rainfall is expected to experience a short fall. However, if the positive IOD develops later in the monsoon season as predicted by climate models, the impact of El Niño could be minimised or even offset, depending on its strength.

US fires on Iran tankers as talks hang in balance

Fresh Iranian attack injures 3 in UAE; Saudi blocks US use of airspace

WASHINGTON

A US warplane disabled two Iranian tankers to enforce a port blockade on Friday, after Washington's top diplomat said he was awaiting Tehran's response to the latest proposed deal to end the Gulf conflict.

US Central Command said an F/A-18 Super Hornet had used precision munitions on the two ships to prevent them from continuing to Iran, as Iranian state-controlled media reported "sporadic clashes" with US vessels in the Strait of Hormuz.

The latest incidents came after an overnight exchange of fire that triggered fears of a breakdown in the Gulf ceasefire, and after US Secretary of State Marco Rubio told reporters in Rome that Washington hoped to receive Tehran's answer to the US proposal later on Friday.

Rubio said Iran must not control the Strait of Hormuz, where the flare-ups took place, but added: "We're expecting a response from them today at some point... I hope it's a serious offer, I really do."

Washington has sent Iran, via Pakistani mediators, a proposal to extend the truce in the Gulf to allow talks on a final settlement of the conflict launched 10 weeks ago with US-Israeli strikes on Tehran.

Iran's foreign ministry spokesman Esmaeil Baqaei said on Friday that the proposal was still "under review, and once a final decision is reached, it will certainly be announced", according to the ISNA news agency.

Smoke rising from the site of an Israeli airstrike in Tyre in southern Lebanon | AFP

Two Saudi sources, meanwhile, told AFP the kingdom had refused to allow the US military to use its airspace or bases for an operation to force open a passage for commercial shipping in the strategic strait.

WAR WATCH

The night before, US Central Command said Iran had launched missiles, drones and small boats at three US warships transiting the Hormuz, but that none were hit and American forces had destroyed the incoming threats and retaliated against land bases in Iran.

Iran's central military command, Khatam al-Anbiya, countered that the clash had erupted when US vessels targeted an Iranian tanker heading towards the strait, and accused its foe of hitting civilian areas.The strikes hit Bandar Khamir and Sirik—cities on the Iranian side of the strait—as well as Qeshm island, it said, alleging that the attack was carried out with the cooperation of "some regional countries".

Reports of flying saucers, light-emitting orbs in first set of US UFO files

WASHINGTON

THE Pentagon has begun releasing new files on UFOs, saying members of the public can draw their own conclusions on "unidentified anomalous phenomena" like an object that a drone pilot says shone a bright light in the sky and vanished.

It said in a post on X on Friday that while past administrations sought to discredit or dissuade the American people, President Donald Trump "is focused on providing maximum transparency to the public, who can ultimately make up their own minds about the information contained in these files." It said additional documents will be released on a rolling basis.

Besides the Pentagon, the effort is led by the White House, the director of national intelligence, the Energy Department, NASA and the FBI.

A newly unveiled website housing the documents on unidentified anomalous phenomena, or UAPs, has a decidedly retro feel, with black-and-white military imagery of flying objects displayed prominently on the page, with statements displayed in typewriter-like font. The first release includes 162 files, such as old State Department cables, FBI documents and transcripts from NASA of crewed flights into space.

Trump has been teasing the announcement since February. He has previously released records related to the assassinations of President John F Kennedy, Sen. Robert F Kennedy and Martin Luther King Jr that revealed little beyond what was already known.

The Pentagon has been working on declassifying documents related to UFOs for years, and Congress created an office in 2022 to declassify material. Its 2024 debut report revealed hundreds of new UAP incidents but found no evidence that the U.S. government had ever confirmed a sighting of alien technology.

DAY'S DIARY

A piece of history

In 2017, a mysterious 90-million-year-old dinosaur foetus was identified as an entirely new species and was named Beibeilongsinensis

DISCOVERY

The fossil was excavated in Henan, China, in 1992 and sold to fossil dealer Charles Magovern in 1993. Magovern uncovered the 15-inch fossilised fetus, curled atop the eggs

FEATURES

Researchers believe that Beibeilong would have towered over an ostrich while adults may have been more than 25-feet-long and weighed over 3 tonnes

CLASSIFICATION

The dinosaur belonged to a birdlike group called oviraptors, most of which were fairly small. Only three skeletons of giant oviraptors have been found

Here's what's happening in B'lruru this weekend!

PG 2

Sahana Kumari

Twenty-year-old Pavana Nagaraj recently broke the national indoor long jump record, following in the footsteps of her mother Sahana Kumari, who holds the national high jump record even nine years after retirement. Ahead of Mother's Day, the duo shares fond early memories and the pressure of filling big shoes

RUNS & JUMPS IN THE FAMILY

MAHIMA NAGARAJU

WHEN B'luru girl Pavana Nagaraj broke the national indoor long jump record this year, leaping 6.47 metres, the first call she made was to her mother. Along with the pride that any mother would feel deeply and express, Sahana Kumari, a former Olympian and national high jump record holder herself, had something more to say. "She told me we have more to do – she always makes me feel humble," recalls Pavana as Kumari adds with the professional precision of a coach, "I was proud because she was a junior compared to others but since we need 6.60 to qualify for the Asian Games, I told her to focus on consistency and bettering her performance."

This attitude to push oneself further is something Sahana herself has embodied. After giving birth to her daughter at 23 in the peak of her career, she refused to cave to expectations that she would give up athletics, as she says, "It's not easy to return to sports after a kid. The expectation at home also was that I would stay home but I knew I wanted to show my talent. My husband (BG Nagaraj, former national and international sprinter) supported me, but it was a tough time. Whenever I was tired after practice and came home, Pavana would curiously ask me about the competition, about the jumps – she was my inspiration." Her work paid off, too, as Sahana shares with pride, "I won gold at the open nationals six months after returning to the sport." She went on to win silver at the 2010 South Asian Games, gold in 2016 and represented India at the Olympics in 2012.

Pavana Nagaraj and Sahana Kumari

As an elementary school child, Pavana grew up steeped in her mother's world of athletics practices national level players and international coaches. On one such practice day, sparks flew. "When I was training with Ukrainian coach Evgeny Nikitin ahead of the Olympics, she used to come along. To keep her occupied, Nikitin set up a band and told her to jump. I remember her taking three strides and executing a scissor jump. She surprised us all," says Sahana, while Pavana adds, "I had watched all the athletes so much that it stayed in my mind."

However, Pavana following in her mother's footsteps was not the plan at all, with her dad encouraging her to pursue track throughout school. While doing so, though, Pavana secretly signed up for the high jump competition at an inter-school meet, winning gold and starting off her journey competing in long jump and high jump competitions too.

> Pressure is the privilege that comes when people think you are capable of something big
> — Pavana Nagaraj, athlete

Finally, one moment sealed the deal. "The moment I realised with certainty that this was my passion was winning gold at the U-14 nationals and setting a high jump record by jumping 1.63 metres. I realised I have potential." While having her mom as coach through the intensity of professional sports is undoubtedly an advantage, one has to wonder if there is pressure too, of the weight of a legacy of gold medals. She says, "Pressure is the privilege that comes when people think you are capable of something big." Sahana adds that she and Pavana too take care to hold the line between motivation and pressure.

Right now, having just returned to B'luru from Oklahoma University, Pavana has her eyes set on outdoor long jump competitions, to be held in July, which will determine if she will qualify for the Asian Games. She says, "I've been focusing on my training. I'm going to give my best and believe that results will come with it." And you can bet that Sahana will be right there to see it when it happens.

SIMPLE YOGA STRETCHES TO UNDO HOURS OF SITTING

Long hours of sitting at a desk can harm your body, leading to tight hips, stiff necks, poor posture and low energy throughout the day. The good news is with little bit of movement, you can fight off this fatigue. These are simple yoga poses you can do right at your desk.

Seated Neck Stretch (Relieves Neck & Shoulder Tension)

Sit upright with feet flat on the floor. Gently tilt your head toward one shoulder. Hold for 15-20 seconds, then switch sides. Keep your shoulders relaxed to avoid hunching.

Seated Spinal Twist (Improves Mobility & Posture)

Sit tall and place your right hand on the back of your chair. Place your left hand on your right knee and twist gently to the right while keeping your spine elongated. Hold for 20-30 seconds, then switch sides.

Shoulder Rolls (Eases Upper Body Tightness)

Sit or stand comfortably. Roll your shoulders up, back, and down in a circular motion. Repeat 8-10 times, then reverse direction.

Seated Forward Fold (Stretches Lower Back & Hamstrings)

Sit at the edge of your chair and extend your legs forward with heels on the ground. Hinge at the hips and reach toward your toes. Hold for 15-20 seconds.

Wrist & Finger Stretch (Prevents Strain from Typing)

Extend one arm forward, palm facing up. Use the other hand to gently pull fingers downward. Hold for 10-15 seconds, then switch. Repeat with palm facing down.

Seated Cat-Cow Stretch (Boosts Spine Flexibility)

Place hands on knees. Inhale: arch your back, lift chest, look slightly up. Exhale: round your spine, tuck chin toward chest. Repeat for 5-8 breaths .

Chair Hip Stretch (Opens Tight Hips)

Sit tall and place one ankle over the opposite knee. Gently press down on the raised knee. Lean slightly forward for a deeper stretch and hold for 20 seconds, then switch sides

Standing Desk Stretch (Full-Body Reset)

Stand up, interlace fingers, and stretch arms overhead. Reach upward while grounding your feet and hold for 10-15 seconds while breathing deeply

Table-supported backbend

Stand one foot away from the table, facing it. Place your palms on the edge of the table infront of you. Slowly move your hips toward the table to feel a stretch in the hip flexors. Keep the chest open and avoid collapsing the lower back and hold for 15-20 seconds.

These simple yoga poses will help you release tension, improve posture and boost focus throughout your day.

JACK OF ALL TASTES

'TIS the season of a beloved summer fruit – jackfruit. From starters to desserts, this giant fruit can be in anything, anywhere. Known scientifically as Artocarpus heterophyllus, it is known across cultures as halasu, nangka, kathal, jaca, and phanas. Whatever the name, it remains a summer treat finding its way onto plates in many forms. Even those who don't like the frit fruit end up enjoying chips, halwa, or a puzhukku.

It is believed to have originated in the Western Ghats thousands of years ago, some tracing its cultivation in India back 3,000 to 6,000 years, making it one of the oldest cultivated fruits. Over time, it spread across Asia, Africa and South America, thriving in warm, humid climates.

Uneven but pleasant tale of love, loss, and longing

MATHE MALE HOYYUTHIDE
Director: Param Gubbi
Cast: Likhit Gowda, Jay Vardhan, Bhumika Gowda, and Sulaksha Khaira

A SHARADHAA

THERE is a moment in the film when Professor Ranganath (Likith Gowda) reads Robert Frost's "Two roads diverged in a yellow wood" in a classroom. One student dismisses the poem, saying every important decision in life is eventually made by parents. Another believes love only needs courage. Somewhere between these two thoughts lives Mathe Male Hoyyuttide, a film floating between memory, regret and unfinished emotions. The title, which roughly translates to "the rain pours again", beautifully explains the film's movement between past and present.

Inspired by a short story by writer K Sadashiva, the film carries the ache of lost love and unresolved emotions. Director Param Gubbi translates those feelings into a narrative where memories of love continue to shape lives long after people have moved on. Even when the film does not exactly follow cinematic language, its emotional core about relationships, longing, and the weight of choices remains honest.

In the present, Ranganath finds himself intrigued by two college students, Chaitra (Bhumika Gowda) and Narahari (Jay Vardhan). More than anything, Chaitra reminds him of Kasturi (Sulaksha Khaira), the woman he once loved and lost. That resemblance unsettles him and slowly opens wounds he never truly healed from. The film gradually reveals two parallel love stories reflecting one another across generations.

One of the film's most affecting moments comes when Ranganath wonders whether, had he married Kasturi, he might have had a daughter like Chaitra. The thought carries guilt and longing all at once. Through Narahari's love for Chaitra, Ranganath almost tries to protect a younger version of himself. Perhaps he wants Narahari to find the love he could not hold onto, as the film quietly asks: Is there really an age for love?

Set against a rural backdrop, the college portions remain intentionally simple. Students bunk classes, tease friends, discuss cinema and relationships. Narahari openly tells his mother about the girl he loves, while Chaitra appears emotionally guarded. These moments feel rooted in middle-class familiarity. Narahari's mother, raising two children while balancing responsibility, becomes one of the film's warmest presences.

At the same time, the film struggles with its own realism. Many performances seem overly self-aware. The actors show a certain hesitation in expressing emotions rather than living them naturally. The silences are designed to linger, but not every pause deepens the scene. Even the styling and costumes in the present-day portions occasionally feel disconnected from the emotional atmosphere the film wants to create.

Still, some moments stay behind like the smell of rain. A principal who believes students should sometimes bunk classes and watch films. Conversations about death being inevitable and love being necessary before life slips away. Little reflections arrive casually, almost like corridor conversations rather than written philosophy. Music, especially a couple of songs, carries the melancholy that the dialogues and performances sometimes cannot express.

Mathe Male Hoyyuttide is not a perfect film, but it understands how love never fully leaves people. Like rain returning to familiar soil, it revisits old wounds, memories, and emotions, reminding us that some relationships may end with time, but never really leave the heart. Somewhere, beneath its uneven storytelling, the film still understands the soul of the short story it comes from.

A socially charged thriller that struggles to find balance

DHRUTI
Director: Jagadish M
Cast: Anchal Gowdra, Prashanth Soppimath, Bhavana S Reddy, Dhanush BV, Manoj Kumar K N, Deepak S D, Nuthan Kumar B N, Pradeep T, and Madhu Mandagere

A SHARADHAA

THERE is an interesting thought at the centre of Dhruti. Films often discuss crimes against women, unsafe streets, and predatory men. But Jagadish M's film expands that fear further: What happens when not just women, but even men are no longer safe? When miscreants attack, loot, and destroy lives purely for gain, survival itself becomes uncertain.

The film opens inside a tense but quiet tennis arena. Dhruti, played by Aanchal Gowda, prepares for a match while carrying visible emotional scars within. The pressure to win on court mirrors the pressure to stay strong outside it. Jagadish reveals only fragments at first, then slowly moves into a flashback-driven narrative.

As the story unfolds, Bhavana (Bhavana Reddy) enters the picture alongside her husband Prashanth (Prashanth Soppimath). This The newly married couple tries to settle into life, but Prashanth, who goes to work, faces random attacks by criminals driven by greed. On the other side, Dhruti's traumatic encounter gradually intersects, showing how fragile safety has become.

The film's strongest idea lies in its portrayal of being helpless despite wanting to do good. Prashanth wants to help, but every attempt drags him deeper into danger. Jagadish repeatedly asks whether doing the right thing is worth the personal cost. One of the more effective stretches comes when both the victims and the attackers end up in the same hospital, while fear slowly spreads across families. The mother's panic, the father's hope, and the emotional strain within the household feel more authentic than some of the thriller portions.

At the same time, Dhruti struggles with consistency. Jagadish, who handles writing, direction and cinematography, shows ambition, but the screenplay occasionally feels overcrowded with interconnected threads. Certain emotional moments land well, while others stretch longer than needed. The thriller portions work in parts, though the film sometimes mistakes loud intensity for emotional depth.

The commentary on the system is direct in some portions. For example, cops leaking information for quick money and feeding media circles with private tragedies underline how institutions often fail victims instead of protecting them. These moments are not always subtle, but they reflect the frustration the film wants to capture. The film also looks at how a common youth reacts when suddenly pulled into violence, and the consequences he faces simply for trying to help.

On the other side is Dhruti's personal battle. Despite the trauma she undergoes, can she still return to the tennis court and face the final? Parallelly, Prashanth too must deal with the fallout of stepping in to save a girl in danger. Their journeys become the emotional core of the film.

Despite its rough edges, Dhruti, with a whole lot of newcomers, remains sincere in its purpose. It is less interested in heroic action and more concerned with the emotional cost of trying to stay decent in a violent world. The film may not fully realise all its ideas, but it leaves behind a question: In today's world, is being a good Samaritan worth the risk?

LOVE LETTER TO 80s ACTION SLOP

MORTAL KOMBAT II
Director: Simon McQuoid
Cast: Karl Urban, Adeline Rudolph, Jessica McNamee, Josh Lawson, Ludi Lin

PRASHANTH VALLAVAN

A FAN approaches washed-up action star Johnny Cage (Karl Urban) and tells him he should make a comeback. Full of alcohol and despair, Cage is sure nobody is waiting for him to make a comeback. "They want gritty and grounded, they want Keanu Reeves in a suit killing henchmen with a pencil. Who wants to see a dinosaur making karate poses?" he asks. To which the fan replies, "I thought it was pretty cool." That fan is exactly who Mortal Kombat II is made for. Bringing back the 80s Hollywood martial arts aesthetics with its over-the-top action choreography, cheesy action setups, and colourful set design with no real care for realism, without making it an explicit nostalgia bait, is a skill on its own, one which the Mortal Kombat film franchise seems to do with passion.

After a clear emotional setup, of a daughter seeking vengeance, we dive once more into a universe where inter-dimensional (read inter-realm) fighting tournaments decide the fate of millions. However, despite the premise, it's not your Avengers-style "saving the world" film. We hear the threat but do not feel emotionally attached to the "millions" whose lives are at stake. But we care just enough not to feel dissociated. We're not shown happy families or sweet children playing to extract our empathy. It was enough when Kano (Josh Lawson) explains why he wants to save the world with a brilliant dialogue that sums up to "Other realms suck. Earth has beer, and I like beer."

While Adeline Rudolph as Kitana takes care of the emotional foundations of the story, Karl Urban's Johnny Cage holds the fort with his charismatic performance. Cage's banter with Kano towards the end is one of the most entertaining stretches of the film. Except for the above-mentioned actors, everybody else seems to suffer from a case of "staring into nothing". It's immensely clear that most of these close-up shots were shot with just one actor in front of the screen, probably delivering lines to a wall. The production design brings the different arenas to life with gorgeous maximalism and stellar attention to detail. It is not just the action choreography; the lighting in Mortal Kombat II is reminiscent of the 80s and early 90s. Instead of fretting over 'source of light', the film's visual approach opts for 'whatever looks cool', and it works almost all the time, and even when it doesn't, it still holds the charm of older video games with cheaper graphics. The dynamic camera work ensures the video-game-like setting translates into cinematic grammar. Extra points to the makers for not overusing beloved catchphrases like "Finish him" and "Get over here", using them to punctuate just the right moments.

Mortal Kombat II is entertaining because it stays true to everything great about the franchise. The most important aspect is the action sequences. It is an absolute riot seeing Kitana's steel fans slicing a head into three pieces, Liu Kang blazing the screens, Kung Lao's razor-rimmed hat slicing through a torso, people emerging in and out of Raiden's lightning portal, Shao Khan's menacing character design, Scorpion returning from hell to wreak havoc, and Johnny Cage's goofy moves before going berserk. Mortal Kombat II is exactly what you get when childlike imagination gets adult money. The film leaves you hoping the next installment pursues everything good about it with more conviction and a greater focus on having fun with itself. While a third film is already in development, it makes us want to scream, 'Get over here.'

FILMMAKER Doug Liman, known for films like The Bourne Identity, Mr & Mrs Smith, and Edge of Tomorrow, is set to direct an upcoming film titled Star One. The film stars Miles Teller and Eddie Redmayne in the lead roles.

The film, said to be based on a true story, follows two CIA agents, who are the opposite of each other, commissioned to execute a top-secret mission of delivering arms in the enemy state under the radar. PJ Sandwijk for Storyteller Productions, in partnership with Project X Entertainment's William Sherak, Paul Neinstein, and James Vanderbilt, is producing the film. Liman is currently working on the upcoming thriller Bitcoin, starring Casey Affleck, Gal Gadot, and Pete Davidson.

Miles Teller, who was recently seen in Michael, has Paper Tiger and a voice role in The Ark and the Aardvark in the pipeline. Meanwhile, Redmayne, whose last feature was The Good Nurse (2022), will also be seen starring alongside Julia Roberts and Elizabeth Olsen in Panic Carefully, directed by Sam Esmail.

CE FEATURES

BSP Varma, Vinay Rajkumar's film titled Maachis

WE had earlier reported that Vinay Rajkumar would be joining hands with BSP Varma, and the official announcement of the film was made on the actor's birthday, along with the reveal of its title, Maachis. The action-revenge drama marks the first collaboration between the actor and director, and promises to present Vinay in a rugged and emotionally intense avatar.

The title itself has added to the excitement among fans eager to see the actor explore a different space after his recent run of rooted and content-driven films. Produced by Suresh Gowda Hennur, with Shivugowda serving as creative producer, Maachis is expected to go on floors in July.

BSP Varma, who last directed the musical drama Murphy, is now shifting genres with what he describes as a raw action-revenge saga. The filmmaker had earlier hinted that the project would move away from formula storytelling and instead focus on intense emotions and vengeance-driven drama.

Speaking earlier to CE about the collaboration, BSP Varma shared that he wanted to explore a side of Vinay Rajkumar that audiences have not seen before. The director believes the actor's recent film choices and performances reflect a growing maturity, making this the right time for a more hard-hitting role.

Vinay, meanwhile, has been steadily building an interesting lineup. The actor is currently awaiting the release of Gramayana and is also part of City Lights, directed by Duniya Vijay. With Maachis, he appears set to enter a more action-oriented zone.

The film's technical crew includes cinematographer Adarsh R, editor Kiran, and art director Guna. Action choreography will be handled by renowned stunt master Dr K Ravi Varma. While the makers are keeping the story under wraps for now, the title Maachis itself hints at a fiery and explosive narrative, setting the tone for what could be one of Vinay Rajkumar's most intense outings in recent years.
